

MAYOR'S RULING LEGAL?

City Challenges Liquor Petition

Harrison Returns After Council Meeting,
Says 'Investigation' Motion Endorsed

City Council has challenged the liquor petition signed by 12,318 citizens.

But today it is not clear whether an after-council ruling by Mayor Harrison is legal.

9,000 Jump;
Two Die,
30 Hurt

FORT BRAGG, N.C. (AP)—

Two members of the 82nd Airborne Division were killed in a mass jump of 9,000 paratroopers here Thursday. Thirty were taken to hospital and about 50 other men received minor injuries.

The United States Army declined details of the fatal incidents pending completion of an investigation.

The casualties marred the army's largest peacetime paratrooper and equipment drop since the Second World War. The aerial manoeuvre involved the division's 325th, 504th and 505th airborne infantry regiments along with 82nd's airborne artillery. The boosted, combat-ready troops cascaded from about 145 C-119s Flying Boxcars onto four drop zones.

After landing, the men secured a theoretical air head and prepared for simulated combat. But some failed to land in proper drop zones, others landed in trees.

If it is, council is on record as endorsing Ald. Geoffrey Edgell's call for a thorough investigation of the manner the signatures were obtained, before a local-option vote is taken here on the four proposed types of liquor outlets.

But if Mayor Harrison's post-council ruling is unconstitutional, the council will be on record as defeating Ald. Edgell's resolution.

Confusion stems from an obscure clause in council's procedural bylaw. This rules that an alderman who is present and does not vote must be recorded as having favored the motion before the council.

The official position of council is not made clear since Mayor Harrison declared the motion "lost" while the meeting was in progress, and then said the motion had "carried" after the meeting had adjourned.

The motion, submitted by Ald. Geoffrey Edgell and seconded by Ald. Frank Mulliner was: "Be it resolved that this City Council do petition the government to investigate the matter thoroughly before putting a plebiscite to the people."

Applicants for Liquor Licenses Kept Secret

Attorney-General, Liquor Commissioner
Refuse to Reveal Names of Individuals

VANCOUVER (CP)—The News Herald says in a front-page story today the provincial government has refused to release the names of persons applying for the new liquor licenses.

The newspaper said Liquor Commissioner Donald McGugan had refused to give any information on license applications to the newspaper's Victoria staff correspondent.

He told the reporter to speak to Attorney-General Robert Bonner, who said: "You'll have to get that information from Mr. McGugan."

The story said the newspaper telephoned Mr. Bonner later, and the attorney-general said: "It is up to the liquor control board and the liquor commissioner."

"I do not believe they are under any obligation to reveal the names of the applicants," the story said he was asked why there was any need for secrecy about the names, and Mr. Bonner said:

"I don't know whether it is secrecy or privacy. The commission receives a great number of inquiries about applications and they are entitled to a certain amount of privacy. Certainly when the decisions are made the names will be made public immediately."

In Vancouver, the chairman of the commission which investigated the liquor situation in the province last year, H. H. Stevens, said: "Matters of public interest belong to the public and should be made available to the people."

George Home, secretary of the B.C. Federation of Labor, another member of the commission, said today he had "no advice" on the matter.

BCPC Chairman Samuel R. Weston, General W. W. Foster, Forrest L. Shaw, commissioners, and the chief engineer, Alfred William Lash, were blamed by investigator Mr. Justice J. V. Clynne "in failing to take adequate steps to prevent the mud slide which partially destroyed the Whistler hydro development."

Slide damage to the $5,000,000 project was estimated unofficially at about $1,000,000.

Victoria Officer Welcomes
St. Laurent to Navy Show

TOKYO (CP)—The Royal Canadian Navy had a showy hour with Prime Minister St. Laurent today and after an energetic talk down their rigid, well-scrubbed and polished lines he told them their smart appearance and good record made him prouder than ever to be a Canadian.

He mounted a saluting stand for a 10-minute talk to the 800 men of the Canadian Far East fleet whose spanking-clean gun turrets and yards formed an appropriate background. The flagship—Haida, along with the Crusader and Cayuga, had moved into the Shibaura dock for their patrol stations and they were dressed from stem to stern with a gay assortment of pennants. Gun barrels glistened in the shafts of sunlight.

The prime minister drove to the dock accompanied by ambassador Robert Mayhew and escorted by motorcycle police.

The Canadian Far East naval chief, Capt. John Charles of the Haida, greeted the prime minister and introduced him to Cmdr. W. P. Hayes, Swift Current, Sask., of the Cayuga, and Lieut.-Cmdr. W. H. Wilson, Calgary, of the Crusader.

Court Hears How Island Boy Killed Father

Case Before Jury
This Afternoon

NANAIMO, B.C. (CP)—Description of a fight in which a 15-year-old boy struck his father twice with his fists and killed him during a fight in their South Wellington home Dec. 16 was given in Assize Court here.

Trial of the boy, Roy Kenny, on a manslaughter charge, opened Thursday with testimony given by his mother, Mrs. George Kenny, and his 13-year-old sister, Audrey.

Crown counsel Frank S. Cunliffe, QC, told the jury they must decide whether the boy used more force than was necessary in the fight with his father.

Medical and police evidence were heard this morning. Dr. J. W. Cooper told the court Kenny died as a result of a broken neck. Post mortem examination also revealed three breaks in his jaw.

NEAR CLOSE

The case was expected to go to the jury this afternoon.

Mrs. Kenny testified that her husband tried to choke her four years ago, and that he pulled a knife on her son, Roy.

"I stopped him before he did anything," she said. "I whacked him on the head with a milk stool on Easter Monday, 1953. Mrs. Kenny said her husband arrived home "mean drunk" about midnight December 16 and demanded she go with him to Alberni to pick up a heifer for their farm.

STARTED FIGHT

She refused and when the father ordered the boy to accompany him, Mrs. Kenny said, he started to fight when Roy also refused to go until the next day.

She said he "made a pass at Roy" but missed. He kept after him, she said.

The boy struck his father and knocked him back in the bedroom. Mrs. Kenny said her husband "immediately picked himself up and charged at Roy and told him he was going to kill him."

Roy struck her husband another blow, she said, and then the family called police.

CROSSWORDERS TRIP ON 'TOUCH,' 'RAZOR'

After solving the crossword-contest successfully for two weeks, Times crossworders tripped up on Puzzle No. 50 and there were no correct solutions this week. One of the chief sticklers was "touch" which, rather than "torch" was ruled the best answer to "can help you find your way in the dark." Another was "razor," not "radar," for "universally used in the last war." The solution with explanations is on Page 27 along with Puzzle No. 51, worth $100.

Ski-Race in Strait Set for September

Port Angeles Plans Novel Water Event
On Route To Be Blazed by Flo Chadwick

Plans are being made in Port Angeles to hold the world's first water ski race across an international boundary in September.

Florence Chadwick hopes to "blaze" a route across the strait in August in the $10,000 swim sponsored by the Times and British America Paint Co.

In all likelihood the bouncing skiers will use the same route in the opposite direction.

$100 PRIZE

A Port Angeles businessman, Leo White, has offered a $100 prize for the water ski winner.

According to reports from Port Angeles, interest in the proposed race has been shown in Seattle, Tacoma, and even as far south as California.

Rules for the race are being drawn now, and the location of start and finish lines should be announced shortly.

According to Dave Angus, Victoria marine dealer, water skiers in competition have reached speeds of 70 miles per hour. Most water skiing, he said, is

LONDON (UP)—Britain today assured shippers in the trans-Atlantic shipping lanes that tests of defenses against biological warfare, scheduled to be made this year in the Bahamas, will not endanger shipping.

Minister of Supply Duncan Sandys stressed that only simulated germ bombs will be used and that test sites will be "safely removed from any normal shipping routes."

The government announced Thursday night it would conduct the tests somewhere in the Bahamas chain, which begins about 150 miles off Florida's east coast and stretches about 650 miles southeastward paralleling Cuba, the Dominican Republic and Puerto Rico.

Sandys said the experiments will test Britain's defense against "even such forms of biological warfare which are expressly forbidden by the rules of war."

This was Britain's first announcement of germ warfare tests although Moscow radio charged 18 months ago that the government had been carrying out experiments with volunteers from the armed forces, resulting in the death of one man.

"Her Majesty's government cannot neglect consideration of precautions which would need to be taken should this form of warfare ever be applied against us," Sandys said.

"In recent years trials have been carried out off the coast of Scotland to obtain technical data whereon these precautions should be based."

ROME (AP)—Premier Mario Scelba's shaky young government rocked today at the resignation of national police chief Tommaso Pavone following court testimony linking him with Italy's biggest post-war scandal, the mysterious death of a high-society party girl, Wilma Montesi.

Pavone, in a statement denied "indignantly and in the most categorical manner" allegations implying that he had shielded, and received gifts from, one of the men prominent in the case. He said he will take legal action to clear his name.

Report Claims Roy Cohn Said He'd 'Get' Stevens

WASHINGTON (UP)—The army charged in a report today that Senator Joseph R. McCarthy's chief counsel once threatened to "wreck the army" to get favored treatment for a drafted McCarthy investigator.

The document also accused the 26-year-old attorney, Roy M. Cohn, of threatening to force Army Secretary Robert T. Stevens' ouster if Pvt. G. David Schine were sent overseas.

The army said Cohn interceded frequently in an effort to keep the wealthy Schine off KP, to get him plenty of passes, and to put him at the disposal of McCarthy's investigating subcommittee from time to time.

The 34-page report, landing like a bombshell in the middle of the McCarthy controversy, said McCarthy himself tried to persuade the army to shift Schine to special duty in New York to search for evidence "of pro-Communist leanings in West Point textbooks."

The detailed document, the army's summary of its day-by-day dealings with McCarthy and his aides on Schine, was delivered to members of the subcommittee and other selected senators Thursday over McCarthy's protests.

It was made public by several senators shortly before midnight after it had "leaked." It came as some subcommittee members, including some Republicans, were trying to get Cohn fired. It blew the army-McCarthy feud wide open again after it had just begun to simmer down.

BRANDS REPORT LIE

Cohn, youthful and energetic chief counsel of McCarthy's Senate investigating subcommittee, branded the 34-page report "a damn lie."

Senator McCarthy himself accused the army of trying to "blackmail" him into calling off an investigation of Communists.

Cohn, sitting beside McCarthy at a news conference, denied he made any such "absurd" threats.

DEMANDS COHN'S FIRING

McCarthy made his statement after a Republican member of his subcommittee—Sen. Charles McNichols (Mich.)—demanded that Cohn be fired if the army's "tests of defenses against biological warfare, scheduled to be made this year in the Bahamas, will not endanger shipping."

The three Democratic members—Sens. John L. McClellan (Ark.), Henry M. Jackson (Wash.) and Stuart Symington (Mo.)—said in a joint statement that the army's "revelations should engage the prompt attention and consideration" of the group. They said they "assume" McCarthy will call an early meeting to discuss the army report.

Much Council Work To Be Secret Under New Procedure Law

Mayor Moves for Tighter Rein on Council, 119 Provisions Cover Rules on Meetings

By DAVE STOCK

Drastic changes in City Council procedure are contained in a new by-law prepared by order of Mayor Claude Harrison.

The by-law, among other things, would empower the mayor to dispose of any communications considered "defamatory or unusable" and would bring secrecy to the findings of council committees. The new by-law, containing 119 provisions, has been drafted by City Solicitor Arthur Patton who said it was done "on instructions of the mayor."

Copies of the draft were circulated Thursday to aldermen for their consideration and comment. The by-law is expected to come formally before the council at its next regular meeting March 23.

The by-law is not one which people vote on. It is for council to decide whether to accept, amend or reject.

Ald. Robert Macmillan, so far, is the only member of council to voice any objection to the new proposal.

He expressed concern over the section which provided new procedure for handling communications.

The by-law provides that all mail to City Council, with the exception of letters, will be screened by the City Manager.

Correspondence Handling

It further provides that the mayor and manager together, or in the absence of the manager, the mayor alone can refer any communication or petition directly to a committee "or if any communication is defamatory or unusable for the business of the city dispose of the same."

At present it is for the mayor and city clerk to decide what to do with the communications and what should go to the Victoria Public Library Board. The mayor has left such decision almost exclusively to the city clerk.

The mayor exercised his prerogative in this respect on Feb. 25 by diverting nine letters scheduled to come before council and sending them to committees.

Brief mention of this incident was made at Thursday's council meeting by Ald. Macmillan when the finance committee reported it had referred and city clerk to decide what to do with the communications and what should go to the Victoria Public Library Board.

Macmillan to Fight Move

Ald. Macmillan said: "I believe these letters were incorrectly referred. This appears to be concerning a matter of policy which should be dealt with by council as a whole."

"I will say no more about it today," the alderman said. "It appears we will be discussing this matter later."

The alderman made clear afterward it is his intention to raise the issue himself when the new procedure by-law comes forward.

The alderman and the mayor tangled at the February 25 handling of communications. On that occasion the argument concerned a ruling by the mayor on February 11 that four communications dealing with the library board were libelous and therefore were not to be read to council.

Provision in the new procedure by-law which would close committee meetings during deliberations is in direct conflict to the mayor's election promise that committee meetings would be open.

In his inaugural address January 4, he spoke of the importance of having open meetings to the press and the public.

In the proposed by-law it is provided:

"Every committee shall conduct its deliberations with no other persons present than those of the committee, until the report of the committee is made to the council no reference shall be made thereto nor to the proceedings of the committee."

Government Fights Spud Disease By Restricting Import Tonnages

The provincial government has tightened its regulations with regard to imports of potatoes, to protect British Columbia's $4,000,000 potato industry from a serious tuber disease, it was learned today.

Presence of bacterial ring rot, a serious tuber disease which could cause widespread damage to B.C. potato crops, was discovered among imported tubers from the United States and Alberta, agricultural officials said.

Some of these potatoes, they said, reached Vancouver Island before they were spotted. The tubers were ordered returned to the province or country of origin.

Bacterial ring rot causes millions of dollars of damage to the U.S. potato industry every year.

To protect the B.C. industry, the government decided to limit the entry of potatoes to about 25 tons. Under ordinary circumstances up to 75 tons are allowed to enter the province at one time.

This means that Victoria will not be able to keep in storage more than 25 tons of potatoes. The tubers must be disposed of before further imports are allowed.

Market officials said they did not think the import restrictions would affect potato prices.

W. B. Foster, provincial plant pathologist, said B.C. potatoes are the most disease-free tubers in the world. "We want to keep them that way," he said. "That is why our regulations are strict."

B.C. Big Game Hunter Found Shot to Death

MOBERLEY LAKE, B.C. (CP)—H. (Slim) Garbutt, 36-year-old big game hunter and lodge operator, was found shot to death in his bed with a rifle lying nearby, RCMP reported today.

Police said Garbutt was discovered with a bullet in his head by his wife after she heard a shot.

Churchill Forces Retain Harrogate Seat With Ease

HARROGATE, Eng. (Reuters)—Sir Winston Churchill's Conservative party easily won a parliamentary by-election held here Thursday.

Results of the balloting announced today showed James Ramsden, Conservative candidate, with 20,263 votes to 8,367 for his labor opponent, Ernest Kavanagh.

Conservative votes represented 70.78 per cent of the total cast, a slight advance over the 70.56 rate the party gained in its 1951 general election victory here.

The seat was vacated by the retirement of Christopher York, the 1951 Conservative victor, because of ill health. The by-election leaves only two seats vacant in the 625-member House of Commons. Current status of the vacancies: Conservatives and allies 322, Labor 292, Liberals 6, Irish Nationalists 2, Irish Labor, vacant 2.

STOTT in the HOUSE

A Count of Noses—None Running Yet

THEY counted noses in the Legislature yesterday. The Opposition wanted the largely inactive House labor committee to receive and study briefs from trades unions before amendments to labor legislation are brought down.

Labor Minister Lyle Wicks said he had had a multitude of conferences on the subject, had the benefit of the briefs and was not prepared to accept the resolution.

On the division the Government showed a solid front of 26 in its support. The Opposition parties were equally united, except for absentees—endorsing the resolution with 17 votes.

The result not only defeated the resolution. It indicated the resistance of Government back-benchers to invitations to bolt.

The debate illustrated the arguments advanced to them. Leo Nimsick, sponsor of the resolution, S. J. Squire, W. C. Moore, Robert Strachan, Randolph Harding and Arnold Webster for the CCF, Leader Arthur Laing, George Gregory and A. B. Brown for the Liberals, and Progressive Conservative Dr. Larry Giovannone emphasized the value of information and suggestions derived from committee hearings and study. The consensus was that members couldn't vote intelligently without full information. How could they get it without the committee?

Lands and Forest Minister Sommers declared the House would resolve itself into committee to discuss the legislation when it was introduced. Committee, he added, are groups that keep minutes and waste hours, weeks and months.

The Opposition made its case clear. Were Scored members outside the Cabinet going to decide issues in the dark?

The vote was put, the division recorded and the Scored remained intact.

Communists Admit 200 Million China Reds Need Food

HONG KONG (UPI)—The Communists admitted today at least 200,000,000 persons in China do not have enough food.

It was one of the rare instances in which the "reds" have divulged any concrete figure about the food shortage among China's half-billion population.

The admission was buried deep in a long New China News Agency dispatch from Peiping, concerning "planned grain supply."

Rationing of grain, a major food in China, began last November in the big cities such as Peiping and Tientsin. It now has spread by Communist admission to smaller communities.

Good Boy

Their position was stated at the evening sitting when L. H. Shantz, who earlier had called for a BCHIS plebiscite contrary to Government policy, announced he was going to be a "good boy."

The papers had made a big play about a split in the party, but there never was a more united government, he said.

This time, when the chips were down, Shantz was in there pitching for Mr. Bennett and Social Credit. So ended an innings.

How the Legislature impressed the group of International House students from U.B.C. who attended the afternoon sitting was implied by a simple remark: "Why, the people down there don't even listen. They're writing letters."

Attractive Brigitte (pronounced Brig-eeta) Kerwer, five years out from the Saar and now a Canadian citizen, was more non-committal. She withheld judgment, saying "I haven't listened long enough."

The young people, some new Canadians, some exchange students from foreign countries, were attentive but seemed a little confused by the proceedings.

Still, they had lots of choice in arguments from speakers. Scored I. F. Corbett explained Yale's need for roads, parks and flood protection in low-lying areas near Hope. Quiet-voiced Rupert Haggen, CCF from Grand Forks Greenwood, introduced a happy note. He spoke of some of his good neighbors, who were Doukhobors in a region where more than half the school population came from that sect. The young Doukhobors were being assimilated and time, he believed, would solve the problem.

F. X. Richter, Scored, extolled the green pastures of Similkameen, praised B.C.'s education system and hoped for a high school course in vocational agriculture.

Pinwheel Rhetoric

And Saanich's Social Credit J. D. Tidball Tidball presented his personal poll purporting to show how favorably impressed his riding was with the new hospital plan dependent on the increased sales tax. As his speech progressed, Mr. Tidball suddenly went off like a vocal pinwheel, proving the speed of the word could outdistance the thought.

In the evening Arthur Turner, gave another of his considering CCF speeches, dryly turning off the cabinet, urging more milk for children, and telling the Government that if it were a crime to break political promises, it would reside in Oakalla.

You wondered at his suggestion that early action on the sales tax might be a repetition of the Rolston Formula reaction. You couldn't forget that the earlier Government, then a minority, courted defeat. It doesn't now.

The evening wore on. Mr. Shantz performed his act of contrition in view of the changes, he doesn't want to go further with his BCHIS plebiscite idea. He lectured on Social Credit, arguing that those adhering to the present money system are the "funny money" people. He chose an odd way to illustrate his point, describing his circulation of a bum $10 cheque which had done $60 worth of business.

LANGFORD—E. Jeffrey was re-elected president of Langwood Credit Union at the union's annual meeting here Wednesday night. A dividend of 2 1/2 per cent was declared.

$65,000 Job To Fix Rot in Island School

DUNCAN—Cowichan High School, built only four years ago at a cost of $650,000, now needs an extensive $65,000 repair job.

Price was revealed by Trustee G. W. Brownlee at a meeting of rural representatives at "Colbie Hill" when he said that cost of replacing rotten underplankings at the school would amount to $60,778 plus $4,700 if floor insulation is required.

The estimate has been a closely guarded secret since January. When presented by R. J. Cave, Vancouver consulting engineer, the press was asked to leave the meeting.

The board said its reason was to keep the amount secret until tenders for the repair and replacement job could be called for. Tenders still have not been called.

After Mr. Cave submitted his report and estimates on the work, the board decided to refer the matter to the two councils and school representatives of the district regarding financing.

WASTE—In London Laborite Emrys Hughes told the House of Commons today—Britain is wasting money on army security posters proclaiming "You're Somebody in the Army Today."

No really intelligent person who has been in the army for 24 hours really believes that, he said.

TURIN—In Genoa, Italy, police told Johannes Bari today they have no objections to anyone playing Tarzan on the Riviera if he feels so inclined and is dressed in an appropriate lion-skin or reasonable facsimile.

It was lack of the latter, they said, that prompted them to haul Bari down from a tree and cart him off to jail—stark naked.

FOREIGNER—In Washington an internal revenue service auditor insisted she was bitten by a foreign mosquito that flew out of a tax return mailed in by a serviceman stationed in Europe.

VACUUM—In Richmond, Va., Charles Watson, 23, a Korean war veteran, said he had driven his car around town for two days with a Communist flag flapping from the radio aerial and nobody noticed it.

"I think I could drive a Russian tank down the street and nothing would happen," he said. "I got more reaction in Korea with a Confederate flag."

OPTIMIST—In Washington the internal revenue service sent a middle-aged lady home to wait for her refund. She had filed a claim at the cashier's window and then sat down to await the result.

ODORLESS—In Ventura, Calif., florist Paul Shreter was awarded $6,125 damages in Superior Court yesterday because his business ability was ruined in an auto accident.

Shreter claimed the other driver, Woodrow Gould, caused injuries to his nose that prevented him from distinguishing between fresh and stale flowers.

Australian Polio Body Vetoes Cancellation of Royal Tour

BRISBANE, Australia (UPI)—The West Australian Polio Advisory Council today unanimously recommended against cancellation of the tour of Queen Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh.

A government statement added: "The government does not propose to recommend further changes in the programs for the Royal visit to West Australia because of the polio epidemic."

The Queen and the duke flew 400 miles today from here to the flooded, isolated town of Townsville in Queensland.

CITY COUNCIL ON LIQUOR PETITION

Confusion as to whether the vote was carried or not resulted when Ald. Margaret Christie did not signify either "aye" or "nay."

Mayor Claude Harrison voted for the resolution with Ald. Edgelow and Ald. Mulliner. Those who voted against were Ald. Millard Mooney, Ald. Robert Macmillan and Ald. Arthur Dowell.

The mayor said the motion was defeated.

City Clerk Frank Hunter rose in his seat and called Mayor Harrison's attention to the fact that since Ald. Christie

Changed After Adjournment

Mayor Harrison left the council chamber but hurried back after a conversation with City Solicitor Arthur Patton. Aldermen, by this time, had left their seats and were clustered in groups, chatting. Ald. Macmillan had left the hall.

The mayor called for attention; said Mr. Patton had pointed out a mistake had been made.

He said Ald. Christie would have to be considered as being in favor of the motion. "So it's carried."

With that the mayor turned

Petition Held 'Ambiguous'

Ald. Edgelow brought forward his controversial resolution because he said: "Certain representations have been made to me by citizens of Victoria to the effect the petition circulated around Victoria regarding the liquor question was in many cases ambiguous."

"Evidently people who were approached were asked if they wanted a beer parlor across the street from them and drunk driving dangerously where children were playing. This was in areas where the canvasser must have known that beer parlors could not be built because they were residentially zoned areas."

"Beer parlors only were mentioned in many cases and no mention was made of the other outlets by the canvasser."

Ald. Edgelow's suggestion was that if his resolution carried, and if government investigation determined many signed petition solely because they wanted had refrained from voting, council rules of procedure required that she be listed as being in support of the motion.

(The Council Procedure By-law provides: "Should any member refrain from voting when any question is put... he shall be regarded as having voted in the affirmative and his vote shall be counted accordingly.")

Mayor Harrison nevertheless ruled again that the motion was "lost." His ruling was not challenged and it was entered on the minutes.

Council went on to deal with other business and subsequently adjourned.

and retired from the council chamber again.

Aldermen discussed then whether the mayor had authority to reverse his ruling after adjournment.

Ald. Dowell said the mayor's second ruling was "certainly open to question."

Ald. Mooney said later: "The whole question will have to come up again so it can be cleared up. As far as I'm concerned, the motion was ruled lost. If that's to be changed it has to be done through proper parliamentary procedure."

Ald. Macmillan, told later what had occurred, said simply: "The mayor can't do that."

"The mayor can't do that."

to oppose beer parlors, then only a poll on beer parlors should be held.

The petition asks for a vote on all four types of outlets: public houses (beer parlors), dining rooms, dining lounges and cocktail bars.

Ald. Edgelow produced a pamphlet used by the Greater Victoria Citizens' Association in soliciting support for its petition. He quoted a part which read: "Don't be misled... this is a brand new issue. You have never voted on it before."

The alderman said this was "ambiguous."

Ald. Mulliner agreed with Ald. Edgelow's sentiments. He said the full aspect of the petition had been overshadowed by the emphasis placed on the beer parlor aspect. He said that if his resolution carried, issue had been "misrepresented" possibly by canvassers who were "carried away with their own enthusiasm."

Mayor Won't Let Hunter Speak

Mr. Hunter, council clerk who is president of the Citizens' Association which sponsored the petition, asked the mayor at one point: "Could I say a word, Mr. Mayor?"

The mayor said: "No."

Ald. Mooney, who on Jan. 28 linked himself with the Citizens' Association cause by urging council to ask for a local-option vote on all four types of outlets and thus do away with the need for a petition, said if council wanted to keep out of the issue before, it should stay clear.

"We were asked to do some-

Installment Plan for Fines

OTTAWA (CP)—The government has accepted an opposition proposal which would give magistrates greater discretion in allowing Canadians to pay fines by installments.

Justice Minister Garson accepted the principle of the suggestion as the Commons Thursday considered provisions in the revised Criminal Code dealing with punishment for "summary conviction" offenses—the minor crimes covered by the code. The maximum penalty for such offenses is a $500 fine or six months in jail or both.

Spokesmen for the Progressive Conservative, CCF and Social Credit parties said the proposed section meant that Canadians would continue to be sent to prison because they were unable to pay court fines.

John Diefenbaker (PC-Prince Albert), a Saskatchewan lawyer described imprisonment of this type as "a relic of the past" and said it means, in effect, imprisonment for debt.

The section in the code states that a "summary conviction court may direct that any fine, pecuniary penalty or sum of money adjudged to be paid shall be paid forthwith or at a time to be fixed by the summary conviction court."

The amendment says that the fine is to be paid at once or, if the guilty party is unable to pay, at a time and under conditions fixed by the court.

Why the Secrecy?

SUBJECT TO GOVERNMENT confirmation of the public petition, Victoria is about to hold a plebiscite on liquor sales. If the voters are to make an intelligent decision they should have the benefit of certain facts. Among these facts are the answers to such questions as, how many retail establishments are in prospect for the city if the vote is in favor of one or more of the four choices of outlets, and what will be their nature.

This information Chairman D. McGugan of the Liquor Control Board has in his possession. He has on hand applications of various kinds from prospective hotel, restaurant and other establishments permitted under the act. But even with the crucial vote soon to be held, the chairman has declined to reveal the number and types of application before him. If such secrecy is maintained, the voters will mark their ballots not knowing the extent to which licences may be granted in the city. Information which would be helpful to them in coming to a decision is being withheld.

Col. McGugan doubtless is acting on instructions of the Government in keeping this information secret. But what is the Government afraid of? What reason has it for suppressing statistics which the voters should have? Ironically enough, in Vancouver and New Westminster, where no votes are to be held, similar information has been made public. Victorians, who must make a decision on liquor, must make it in the dark.

Eisenhower Begins to Fight

PRESIDENT EISENHOWER AT last has begun to fight McCarthyism. He says he agrees substantially with an attack on Senator McCarthy delivered a few days ago by Senator Ralph Flanders, a Republican, of Vermont. He says further that he deplores the present warfare within the Republican party because it endangers his Government's basic program.

Yet the President has yet to break openly with Senator McCarthy and the "primitives" of the party. He has gone no further than a mild rebuke and a plea for reason. It is not likely that men like Senator McCarthy will listen to that plea. Reason is not in them. At some point, and soon, the President will have to repudiate these rebels directly if he is to maintain his stature as the leader of party and nation.

That final step, however, involves serious political dangers for the President. Senator McCarthy is an important vote-getter. The professional managers of the Republican Party are counting upon him to deliver large, perhaps essential Republican support in the Congressional elections next summer. They want to ride two horses in this election—the non-partisan prestige of the President and the hatred of Democrats raised by Senator McCarthy.

This kind of double-barrelled strategy is rapidly becoming impossible because its contradiction and deception are too clear to the American people. They know now that the President is divided from the McCarthyists not by some minor dispute on policy but by an unbridgeable gulf of principle and philosophy. The President has patiently tried to bridge that gulf but he has failed, as he was bound to fail, faced with the character of Senator McCarthy.

The President's problem, however, goes far beyond the private rebellion of the Wisconsin witch-hunter. Mr. Eisenhower is in basic disagreement with a large part of the respectable Republican delegation in the Congress.

This week the Republican House of Representatives over-rode the President's objections and voted to reduce sales taxes by a billion dollars. Not long ago the President found his own Senate leader, Senator William Knowland, voting for a constitutional amendment which would have circumscribed the powers of the Presidency in foreign affairs and which Mr. Eisenhower vigorously opposed. Thirty-two Republican senators voted for the amendment and thus against their leader. Roughly it would seem that about half the Republicans in the Congress are basically opposed to the President's policy and philosophy.

This split has long existed. A similar schism exists in the Democratic Party on the issue of civil rights. But the Democrats have usually been able to disguise their quarrel at election times. The Republican Party is entering this year's election campaign split nakedly, with powerful figures like Senator McCarthy conducting a public vendetta against their leader, replete with television. And this week for the first time the Democrats are opening an attack on the President who, up to now, has been regarded as too dangerous a target.

Within eighteen months of election Mr. Eisenhower is reaping the crop sown at the last Republican convention. Nearly half the delegates and most of the party managers did not want him nominated, disagreed with his views, accepted him reluctantly and won the election on his unequalled prestige. Now they are trying to control and imprison him. The next few weeks should show whether, by appealing directly to the nation, he can control his Party and lead it into the election with some semblance of order.

'Judicial Outrage'

THE SUPREME COURT OF THE United States has lately delivered a judgment which the powerful St. Louis Post Dispatch calls "a judicial outrage."

It concerns one Patrick Irvine, a race track gambler and bookmaker, of Long Beach, California. To prove that he engaged in this illegal business, the California police fitted a key to his door, installed a microphone in his home, bored a hole in the roof and ran wires to a nearby garage, where his conversation could be recorded. Later they moved the microphone to Irvine's bedroom and kept it there for three weeks.

This evidence sent Irvine to jail for eighteen months. He appealed to the Supreme Court, holding that his constitutional rights had been violated. The Court admits, in effect, that there was a violation but it keeps him in jail just the same.

Of this the Post Dispatch says that "a terribly wrong decision has just come from the Supreme Court in a case involving one of the most basic of liberties—the right of the citizen to be secure in his own home and against unreasonable searches and seizures."

The Court, it should be noted, was split five to four in the judgment which upheld the sentence on Irvine. The majority obviously was very doubtful about the case. It decided to send a record of the evidence to the attorney-general's department, which will be asked to consider the possibility of prosecuting California officials for violating the Bill of Rights.

Reporting these events in far-off Manchester, The Guardian remarks: "Thus the paradox confronts the country of having a majority of the Supreme Court criticize officers who obtained illegal evidence and yet, at the same time, having these judges base their decision on that illegal evidence."

It is not for foreigners to criticize the United States Supreme Court. Obviously the Americans are attending to that matter for themselves. Canadians are in a poor position to criticize anyway. One of their provincial governments, in Quebec, is busily persecuting a religious sect, the Jehovah's Witnesses, on the strength of a recent Canadian Supreme Court decision and, under a new provincial law, proposes to abduct the basic powers of Parliament in the whole field of civil rights.

Can't We Take a Licking?

WHEN CANADA LOST TO Russia in what was called the world hockey championship, this country's coach made an excellent statement. He complimented the Moscow Dynamos on their ability and said they deserved to win.

Now come ill-tempered statements from some players on the team implying the games were "fixed" and that Toronto's entry was subject to outright discrimination. The harvest of such talk can only be destructive to Canada's prestige. Good people in the Scandinavian countries—even if they were highly critical of the Toronto team's style of play—have heretofore thought highly of Canada. Why should that sentiment be reversed and our friends across the sea led to believe that we are a country of poor sports?

The world respects a good loser. Canada was licked, even if it could have iced a team that no other country could beat. Why feed the fuel of Canadian grumbling to the fires of Russia's propaganda?

It Looks Pretty Silly From Where We Sit

Chips

BY DAVID BROCK

EITHER here, or elsewhere in print, I referred to a ship being under way, and added 'or under weigh', as some pedants would claim. I now have a letter from a naval officer, saying a pedant wouldn't claim any such thing if he were a good pedant. He says "That great authority, Vice-Admiral Sir James ('Jaggers') Troup writes in his magnum opus 'On the Bridge': 'When the anchor is weighed, a ship gets under way.' The Regulations for the Prevention of Collision at Sea (recently revised, but not in this respect) talk of 'a ship under way', but stopped and having no way upon her."

"I think 'under weigh' is a cross between the ancient controversy of 'half deck' vs. 'aft deck', and the uninformal naval writer's belief that the telegraphic omission of 'HMS' or 'the' before the name of one of HM ships in signals, and (sometimes) in official correspondence, obliges him to do it on normal occasions, to show what an expert he is. But many naval officers fall into both traps."

The late Maurice Baring used to spend weeks and months at sea with Admiral Fisher every year, and he was also very fond of words. Yet I was interested to see him referring to "Tiger" when he meant "HMS Tiger" or "the Tiger." I don't think Baring was the sort of chap to show off. But there is no doubt that he was a romantic, in a quiet way, and I have noticed romantics making this little mistake as often as show-offs. Why is it supposed to be more romantic to say "Crusader" when you mean "the Crusader" or "HMS Crusader"? I am not sure. I suppose it feels intimate. To me it feels all wrong. I am glad to know it is all wrong.

REACTIONARIES
SPEAKING of the Navy, it is interesting to read about British sailors complaining that the Navy doesn't change enough. Such a complaint would spring naturally to the lips of soldiers and airmen, if only from a vaguely uncomfortable feeling that the Navy remains somehow superior. But the complaint from within shows how far the modern theory has saturated us. I refer to the theory that all change is for the best, and that the way to improve yourself is to throw away everything your father gave you; that you should, in effect, celebrate your maturity and coming-of-age by starting yourself off as a savage.

PERHAPS a savage is a poor parallel; many tribes insist on tradition to an incredible degree. Still, many a savage does refuse to learn by the experience of others, and that is perhaps what I am after here. It is not an accident that when an art school says the old have nothing to teach the young, the students at once say "Down with tradition!" and go off to copy the works of savages... who are presumably a lot more traditional and much older than Epstein and John.

The Navy is not the only stronghold of tradition that is finally troubled from within. The older churches were always mocked from outside for not changing enough. (Nor was it often noticed that the mockery of their tradition usually came from sects that wanted to climb right back inside the Old Testament.) But today the demand for change for its own sake is heard inside the older churches themselves.

AND anyone who wants to examine such demands on their own merits is called a reactionary. (Patient readers of this column will long ago have labelled old Brock a reactionary.) This is highly comical, as well as a little sad. And for several reasons. Surely a man who rebels against an almost universal modern belief is a rebel and a reformer, not a reactionary in any dull and static sense. And for another thing, the man who wants to get rid of history is the real reactionary. He reacts against it. He wants to go back to the Old Testament, or to his home with the apes. All I react against is this sort of man. But all that he reacts against is his birth-right. He is far more reactionary than I am.

MISSED OPPORTUNITY
WHILE looking up something about Naples, I read that the old Roman amphitheatre there was made watertight, so that the playing area could be flooded. On this lake, to the happy shouts of the crowd, gladiators killed each other in boats. I wonder if any Roman in a colder part of Italy ever thought of having murder on skates? Today we have hockey; of course, which is the same thing. But gladiatorial games on ice would have been more spectacular. Better, even than Hamlet on ice, or whatever Barbara Ann and Sonje and the girls are performing just now.

TACTICS AND STRATEGY
MANY chaps keep telling me it is all right to sell non-strategic materials to Russia. They are unable to tell me, though, when a material is impossible to use for strategic purposes, or even tactical ones. Nor are they able to say how many men it frees for strategic purposes when you buy other products abroad. All we know is that Russia wouldn't buy much it didn't need.

DENNIS THE MENACE

YES, HE'S HERE. HE SAID HE CAME OVER TO GIVE YOU A REST.

'A Memorable Occasion'

Following are some excerpts from letters received by the Times relative to the recent Everest team lecture:

"... I just have to write you a note of thanks. Everything was done to make it a successful and memorable occasion. Frame for screen so artistic; loudspeakers effective; band of HMCS Naden; Stanley Martin leading the singing; and New Zealand High Commissioner to Canada bringing greetings."

"The four speakers, James Morris, George Lowe, Dr. Charles Evans and Sir Edmund Hillary, were so very fine, winning the audience and making it as one with them. One could not help but sense the feeling of comradeship among the climbers. So humorous one time and tense at others."

"Pictures of breath-taking beauty of scenery and gorgeous flowers."

"Victoria is certainly very much indebted to you for making such an historical event possible... heart-felt thanks."

"That was a wonderful meeting last night—really thrilling—so much so I forgot I was frozen solid! You have really done something for Victoria by bringing the Everest team to the city, and it must give you great satisfaction."

"It was a really memorable occasion on which I congratulate you."

"It was an occasion which assuredly will never be forgotten by any who were present."

"May I offer my hearty congratulations to your organization for bringing the Everest team to Victoria. It was undoubtedly one of the very best things that has ever come here... Congratulations for having the courage to bring such an expensive show to a relatively small city."

"I doubt that any similar large-scale function in Victoria has ever been so capably and smoothly organized in all its details. For a fine public service, both in bringing such an outstanding and historic event to the city, and in devoting net proceeds to deserving causes, the Times is to be very highly commended and congratulated."

"This was a rare service to the people of Victoria."

"Every comment I have heard has been most laudatory of the lecture and the entire show."

"... It was particularly refreshing to us to find that there were still people in the world who, without desire for welfare plans or other hedges against risks or dangers, would undertake a feat as they did... Hats off!"

As Our Readers See It

FOR A WORTHY CAUSE

I believe it is accurate to say that no public art gallery in Canada has received more wholehearted support and co-operation from a city newspaper than the Arts Centre of Greater Victoria has from the Victoria Daily Times.

During the past eight years it has been a source of constant encouragement to those responsible for the operation of the Arts Centre to know that their efforts would always be supported in a most public-spirited manner by the Times. While the Times in its editorial columns has consistently backed the cause of an art gallery in this city, it has also given most generous space in its news columns to the exhibitions and other events sponsored by the Arts Centre.

And now the Times has come to the further aid of the Arts Centre by presenting it with half the profits from the Sir Edmund Hillary lecture.

I feel that I can speak for the entire membership of the gallery as well as for its board of directors in acknowledging with the warmest thanks not only this particular and magnificent contribution, so greatly needed at the present time, but also for the many and signal services which the Times has rendered in the past to the growth of the visual arts in this community.

J. RONALD GRANT, President, Arts Centre of Greater Victoria.

ROYAL OAK CONNECTION

I would like to use your column to draw to the attention of other people who are affected by the change of route of the Coach Lines buses, what is evidently an only means of getting a connecting service between Royal Oak and any part of Quadra Street outside of going to downtown Victoria and taking a BCE bus back to Lake Hill.

As it now stands, we must pay 15c fare on the Coach Lines but, go downtown in Victoria, and pay another 10c on the BCE to get to Lake Hill. Or we may walk three-quarters of a mile (in my case) or over a mile, depending where we live, to the Beckwith bus.

According to a telephone conversation with the Public Utilities Commission, the only way we can go about getting the Beckwith service to come to us, instead of the other way round, is by a sufficient number of individual complaints in writing from those affected.

I was told to write a letter giving my complaint as it affected me personally, to the Public Utilities Commission, which I have done. If anyone else is interested, Mr. Greenwood is the man in-charge, and only if enough written individual complaints are received will they do anything about it.

So come on, Royal Oak, let's see what we can do about having the bus service come to us instead of our walking miles to the bus.

MRS. MARY SCHWAM.

4421 Quadra St., Royal Oak.

LIQUOR INTERESTS

I would like to compliment Mr. E. H. Crimp on his letter "Critics" (Times, March 8) re Monte Roberts and his column, and say that to me it appears that the liquor interests are afraid to let the electors decide the question, and hope through misrepresentation and opposition to secure a minority rule.

I believe the public have a right to expect reasonable courtesy from our public servants and the press, and that the refusal of the Mayor and his council to grant a poll was in very poor taste, and I hope the electors will not forget it when these gentlemen come up for re-election.

J. P. JENSEN.

'DOWNTRODDEN WORKING MAN'

Regarding Miss Kathleen Ash's letter published in the Times of March 3, I regret to say that her remarks in paragraph 4 with reference to Mrs. Doris Loughheed can hardly be described as accurate.

As a working woman, I too, objected to Mrs. Loughheed's use of the words "downtrodden working man"; so much so that I took it upon myself to look her number up in the directory and to phone her.

In reply to my question, Mrs. Loughheed said that she had indeed used the offending phrase, but only as a quotation. She stated further that she had used the expression as one illustration only of the ridiculous viewpoint (as seen through Canadian eyes), to be found in much pro-Communist literature; that while it might be possible to describe the working man of Russia as "downtrodden," such a phrase was completely foreign to the character of Canada as was Communism itself.

Mrs. Loughheed then asked me if I considered myself to be "downtrodden," and if my fellow workers so considered themselves. When I answered "no," she said, "Only a moron could consider the working man of Canada to be 'downtrodden.'"

Mrs. Loughheed's sincerity was unmistakable, and since I phoned her at approximately 5.15 on the day on which her remarks first appeared in the press, I cannot consider the following remarks of Miss Ash to be a fair statement of fact:

"Mrs. Loughheed has tried to slide out of the responsibility for the statement 'downtrodden.' In the first place—some weeks ago—she apparently used it arrogantly. And in the second place, she has spent much time cogitating on how she could get out of it."

Mrs. Loughheed's original statement may have been "arrogant" (I have no means of knowing this, since I was not present at her press interview—was Miss Ash?), but I can certainly vouch for the fact that she was not given much opportunity to "cogitate" on "how she could get out of it."

"VICTORIAN"

BRIGHTER THINGS

Could not we in Canada now have less talk on the evils of communism and atomic bombs and turn our minds to brighter things? We have absorbed our lesson and no longer shiver and shake; surely most of us agree that with the power of instant retribution in the hands of the enemy, no sane government is now going to take on the responsibility of starting another world war.

Of course there will always be some angry man who wants to empty his magazine on an American Congressman offering advice or throw his spear at a British Resident granting freedom; but I do think the peoples of the earth will in due time work out their own forms of life quietly, knowing they must not interfere with their neighbors because there is a strong policeman around the corner.

So it has been very heartening this week to hear over the BBC of the vast amount of money, brains and energy the British Government is now using to tackle the problems of atomic power for the future happiness of man instead of his destruction. Let us all hear more about it.

J. H. G. PALMER.

Duncan, B.C.

SO LITTLE

I notice (though one might have supposed that education was a year-round matter) that this is "Education Week." By way of celebrating the event, the Public Library has a prominent display in its front lobby of what are considered suitable books for us to read about the matter. I note, however, that conspicuously absent from this display is the most widely discussed book on education published in Canada in the past year, or indeed, perhaps, ever. I refer, of course, to "So Little for the Mind" by Hilda Neatby (reviewed at length in your columns).

As this book is vigorously critical of many features of public education in this province and country, is the failure of the Public Library to draw it to the public's attention merely inadvertence, or is it an attempt to guide our thinking along what are considered (by whom?) "desirable lines?"

PORTRAIT

It's a great pity that when we have met a man from a foreign country, and are reporting the experience to our friends, we begin by saying "I met a Frenchman yesterday..." or a Norwegian, or a Dane, or a German, or an Englishman. At once a false picture is conjured up, drawn in cartoonist's bold and misleading lines, colored with the shades of age-long prejudice and misconception. Perhaps the Englishman, more than any, lends himself to this arbitrary coloring; he exposes such a blank exterior to the world. But cultivate his company for a little and, with any luck, you'll find his colors coming out, slowly, no doubt, and in somewhat subdued shades by some standards. But at least the finished picture will be a true one.

J. B. Boothroyd, writer, talking in the BBC's series "How English are the English?"

Ike Is Next on the List

THE political strategy of Sen. McCarthy is now pretty plain. One can predict rather confidently that he will adopt the following course of action in these next months:

During the present session of Congress, McCarthy will chiefly devote himself to painting the Army red, precisely because it was the Army that raised the President to greatness.

During the Congressional election McCarthy will work even harder to paint the Democrats red, especially in key states like Illinois.

If the Democrats nonetheless win the election, McCarthy will blame Eisenhower for protecting those who would "protect Communism." This theme was struck for the first time, in the Senator's astonishing comment on the Eisenhower press conference.

If the Republicans win the election, McCarthy will claim all the credit. The groundwork for this claim is being helpfully laid by the President's own political advisers, who persist in planning to use McCarthy as their party's star turn this year.

This is to be the build-up in turn for McCarthy's Big Show for 1955. Unless the signs deceive, the 1955 Big Show will be painting Eisenhower red.

This will be the final manoeuvre in turn of an effort to dominate the Republican Convention in 1956. Dominating the 1956 convention, gaining control of the Republican party, are the declared objectives of McCarthy and his allies. Their strategy for doing so is already well developed.

The eventual smearing of Eisenhower is necessary to that strategy, because this is the only way that the party authority of a President in office can conceivably be challenged.

The suggestion that McCarthy can even consider smearing Eisenhower will no doubt astonish and outrage great numbers of people. But even today, the country seems to regard the presence of a suspected Communist in the inglorious uniform of an Army dentist as serious proof of dark, far-reaching plots. Even today, many people really believe that Maj. Peress was undermining the foundations of the Republic while he drilled GI teeth. What may not be believed later on?

As to the nature of the projected smear of the President, that can be easily foreseen. In the immediate post-war period in Germany, when the President was still in command there, a good many things were done that look pretty silly by hindsight. Some of these things were demonstrably done, moreover, as a result of Communist influence in the lower echelons of the President's staff.

One of these reporters disclosed the situation back in 1946. "The fact is incontestable," it was then stated, "that a considerable number of American Communists (somehow) found posts in the military government." The details of their influence were also given.

Those were the days, however, when the Wisconsin CIO, then thoroughly Communist-dominated, gave Sen. McCarthy his primary victory over Sen. La Follette. In that distant period, when McCarthy was asked about his Communist supporters, he could still reply airily, "Well, Communists vote, don't they?"

In other words, these reporters' anti-Communism was somewhat premature. Their report from Germany produced no result, back in 1946, except to give a little extra urgency to the clean-up of military government by the President's successor in command, Gen. Lucius D. Clay.

Nowadays, however, the same facts that formerly attracted no attention would quite probably reduce the country to a condition of seething hysteria.

Few people, nowadays, would bear in mind the post-war confusion that gave the Communists their opportunity. Few people, nowadays, would bother to remember that our early mistakes in Germany did no great harm in the end. Very few people, nowadays, would even trouble to consider that the President had no notion of the Communist affiliations of some members of his staff.

McCarthy well understands this national mood. Why should he not, when he created it? He has been collecting the details of the German story, which are numerous, well documented and extremely bizarre. It is clear he means to throw these facts at Eisenhower when, as, and if the opportunity offers.

McCarthy will get his opportunity whenever he has been built up to the point where a great many people will take his word against the President. Certain members of the President's own staff are carrying on that build-up by the repeated appeasements which McCarthy knows so well how to extort from them. Altogether, the McCarthy plan may be the symptom of a diseased ambition, but it also shows a characteristic wild shrewdness.

Fortunately, McCarthy's reaction to the President's press conference seems to have shocked even the most obstinate of the White House appeasers into a sense of their danger. The President still has a chance to sound the clarion call. He is still able to restore the national sense of proportion and give back a semblance of decency to our political life. And if the President moves to do these things, the McCarthy plan will be instantly frustrated.

YOUR HEALTH

By DR. WALTER C. ALVAREZ

Athlete's Foot

Dr. Alvarez is Emeritus Consultant in Medicine, Mayo Clinic and Emeritus Professor of Medicine, Mayo Foundation.

Probably a few million people suffer more or less from so-called athlete's foot, which really is an infection between the toes with an organism that somewhat resembles the mold that forms on old bread or cheese. It can grow best in moist skin, and hence an excellent treatment is, each morning after the bath, to run a towel between the toes. The trouble tends to flare up especially in warm weather when, with the extra perspiration, the mold finds it easier to grow.

During the winter it may lose out, and then it may die dormant in the folds around the toenails. Often times, if a person will only keep using a good ointment every day for weeks or months the disease will come under control, and stay away throughout the winter. If, in summer, it returns, perhaps first in the fold between the outer two toes, again, it can quickly be brought under control.

There are a number of drugs which will kill the mold or make it hard for it to grow. Two of the ones most commonly used—sulfur and salicylic acid—when used with a little tar, are found in a number of commercial ointments, such as Fragmatar. Some physicians use a powder like Desenex. Some patients do well with a preparation like Chad, which is designed to combat perspiration under the arms. Apparently, the mold can not grow in it.

It is well to have the socks changed every day and boiled, so that the feet will not be reinfected. The shoes, also, become infected and, theoretically, they ought to be disinfected from time to time, perhaps with formaldehyde vapor. Actually, most persons can get by well enough without fussing with their shoes. Many persons, once cured, can get reinfected in the showers at the club, or in their own shower at home.

A few women who think they have athlete's foot really haven't it. A skin specialist can tell in a minute whether they have it, simply by putting a little material from between the toes under a microscope. If he finds no mold cells, then the woman may be allergic to her nylon stockings. In that case, all she need do is to buy nylons with silk or cotton feet.

A while ago the American Dental Association announced in Chicago that they are going to make a comparative study of the several tooth pastes which, according to their producers, do marvelous things in the way of preventing caries.

The dentists were not satisfied with the claims that certain dentifrices are highly efficient in preventing the formation of cavities. They doubted if a good tooth paste can do much more than to help the tooth brush in cleaning the accessible surfaces of the teeth.

Naturally, nothing can keep clean the surfaces where two teeth come together, and this is where most of the cavities come. They are the ones which oftentimes can be discovered only with so-called bite-wing X-ray films. Everyone ought to go to his dentist three times a year to have the teeth cleaned and bite-wings made and examined. That is the best way in which one can save one's teeth.

TREATMENT OF SKIN DISEASES
Often patients want me to give them a prescription for some skin lesion: a prescription which they think will work miraculously for them, perhaps because it worked well for a friend or a relative.

Actually, this usually is not a good way to treat a skin disease. Often an expert must try several ointments or powders or lotions or some X-rays or some Grenz rays (like X-rays), or ultraviolet rays, together, perhaps, with some psychotherapy. He may recognize a skin trouble due purely to nervousness. Or he may have to identify some irritant or allergen which is producing the disease, or keeping it up.

Often he has to keep changing the prescription from time to time as the appearance of the eruption changes. At times the lesion may be chronic and at other times it may be acute, and these different stages call for very different drugs. Sometimes the patient proves to be allergic to the first medicine tried, and then another one must quickly be substituted.

Many a patient who has gone to a skin specialist has been dissatisfied or disgusted because the first ointment either didn't work, or else worked badly. He should not immediately have turned against the doctor and gone to another skin specialist. He should have gone back to the first one, so that he could adjust the treatment. The doctor may have to adjust it several times before he can find the right drug or right combination of drugs.

Dr. Alvarez regrets he hasn't the time in which to read or answer requests for information.

Socred Shantz Denies BCHIS Splits Party

New Tax Plan
Solves Problem

Hugh Shantz, Socred MLA for North Okanagan, who lost his deputy speaker's job after calling for a BCHIS plebiscite, Thursday denied allegations of any split in Socred ranks and affirmed his loyalty to the party.

"I am," he said, "a true Social Creditor, and proud of the fact. At no time will I sell my soul for a mess of pottage, nor at any time has this government asked me to do so."

Mr. Shantz was the hub of rumors which pointed him as spearhead in a party breakaway following his call for a plebiscite, frowned on by the BCHIS-ticklish Bennett government.

Mr. Shantz blamed the press for these rumors.

SOCRED NOT SPLIT

The matter of the plebiscite, he said, had been discussed but in view of the major changes made in the scheme, "I deem it unnecessary at this time to press the subject."

And he added about government solidarity: "I can assure you there has never been any government in this Legislature more strongly united."

The newspapers, he went on, had made a big noise about the "hoped for" split in party ranks.

Mr. Shantz said he was proud the government had been "accused" of being a "second-look" administration. Past regimes had been too stubborn to admit they were wrong.

"It will never be said we were not willing to take a second-look at legislation that is deemed not in the best interests."

Mr. Shantz also discussed Social Credit monetary theories. He is the third Socred member at this sitting to talk on the subject.

He said Social Credit adherents had been branded across the country as "funny-money" people, but that actually money didn't enter into the picture at all except as a convenient medium of exchange.

"Social Crediters believe that whenever goods and services are produced, there should automatically be brought into existence purchasing power or medium of exchange to, at all times, deliver these goods and services to the people."

Liberal leader Arthur Laing asked across the floor if Premier Bennett believed this. "Yes," said the Premier.

CCF's TURNER CALLS BLACK 'UNETHICAL'

Provincial Secretary Wesley Black's "deceitful" double-cross accusation against labor leader George Home was "unethical," CCFer Arthur Turner charged in the Legislature Thursday.

On Wednesday Mr. Black told the House Mr. Home advocated a sales tax increase in representations to the cabinet, then changed his mind. Mr. Home denied the provincial secretary's allegation.

Mr. Turner said it was unethical to reveal what went on at cabinet meetings, and that in effect, Mr. Black had broken a confidence, regardless of rightness or wrongness of his quotations concerning Mr. Home.

264 Exposed To Radiation Reported Well

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Atomic Energy Commission said Thursday night that 28 Americans and 236 natives were subjected to "some radiation" during the recent atomic test in the Marshall Islands but all those exposed are "reported well."

The commission announced on March 1 that the first of a series of nuclear tests had started in the Pacific proving grounds.

The new commission announcement said:

"During the course of a routine atomic test in the Marshall Islands, 28 United States personnel and 236 residents were transported from neighboring atolls to Kwajalein island according to plans as a precautionary measure."

"The individuals were unexpectedly exposed to some radiation. There were no burns. All are reported well."

"After completion of the atomic tests, they will be returned to their homes."

The commission made no amplification. However it seemed probable that a "fall-out" of radioactive waste and activated moisture from a cloud drifting from the explosion descended on the atoll.

New BCHIS Plan Ignores Experts, House Told

Sales Tax Boost
Just 'Escapism'

Management engineers Stevenson & Kellogg advised the government in February last year how to make B.C. Health Insurance Service function adequately at a $1,000,000 saving, but the government took no advantage of the recommendations.

So said Arthur Turner (CCF, Vancouver East) in the Legislature Thursday. He said the government did nothing because "fundamentally it didn't believe in hospital insurance."

The proposed extra two per cent sales tax levy in lieu of hospital premiums, he termed "the dark hole of blind political escapism." Where else in the world was hospital service financed by a sales tax? he asked.

BLIND ALLEY

The present plan, he charged, "leads down a blind alley. It's the easy way out. You have pitched the whole thing overboard" after administration confusion during Liberal and Coalition regimes.

"Would you boost the sales tax again? If the people wanted extension of hospital services to include dental treatment, glasses or other items? he asked the government."

This government was boosting B.C.'s tourist trade "in reverse," Mr. Turner said. U.S. tourists would have to pay five per cent sales tax, plus their U.S. dollar discount. On top of this, he said, there were toll bridges in B.C. to dissuade tourist inroads.

Public ownership of public utilities, said the CCFer, would be an alternative means of raising money. He said the provincial government would not part from control of liquor sales, because such sales were highly lucrative.

If the storm raised so far in opposition to the tax hike was any indication, "this government is doomed," Mr. Turner forecast.

There are more than a million Canadian school children enrolled in the Junior Red Cross.

100 Student Teachers Cross Gulf for Fun and Games

Victoria Normal School students, 100 strong, left by steamer today for Vancouver, where they will be weekend guests of their counterparts at Vancouver Normal.

The annual get-together of the two student groups will feature athletic encounters and social events. Each school plays host in alternate years.

Victoria teams will be seeking to repeat the almost clean sweep made by their predecessors against Vancouver here last spring. Athletic events scheduled for tonight and Saturday at the Vancouver school include basketball, soccer, bowling, volleyball, table tennis and badminton.

Saturday night has been set aside for a banquet and dance at which the visiting Victoria students will be honored. At the banquet the judges' decision will be given on an inter-school debate scheduled for the afternoon.

The Victorians will be upholding the negative of a resolution that the teacher-training program should be at least two years.

The Vancouver trip comes as a welcome break at the halfway point in the student teacher's intensive one-year training program. On their return, the future teachers will have only three weeks in which to prepare for their spring report and the important Easter exams.

It's the television that's manufactured in B.C., designed for reception in our local conditions—the ideal set for those who reside in this area! Come in and examine the Jordan Unitized TV set for yourself. You will marvel at its superior picture quality, richness of tone and beautiful appearance.

CHECK THESE FEATURES:

Unitized Construction. Orderly aluminum chassis consists of back and plug-in units. Moisture-proof molded condensers throughout.

MODERNIZATION. Change a unit instead of your entire set when future improvements develop.

AUTOMATIC FULL-FACE FOCUS. Picture automatically focuses "crystal clear" over entire face of the giant "glare-free" tube.

HERM-A-DOME. The high voltage unit is hermetically sealed against major operating failures caused by humidity and dust particles.

PROTECTED CIRCUIT. Expensive parts are protected in case of oscillator drive failure. Input power circuit is safely fused.

ECONOMICAL TO MAINTAIN. Unitized construction makes the set the simplest to maintain in the industry.

FRONT PANEL ADJUSTMENT OF CONTROLS. Nearly all adjustments can be made from the front of the cabinet when viewing picture.

UNIFORMITY. Individual testing of each unit assures perfect operation of combined units.

LUNA-DIAL. Provides soft-lighting of screen, dials and serves as an on and off reminder.

SLOPING NON-GLARE SAFETY GLASS. Protective glass easily removed from front of picture tube for cleaning.

Wright Admits Indecent Assault

A plea of guilty was entered Thursday by John Charles Wright in Saanich police court when a charge against him of attempted carnal knowledge of a girl under 14 was reduced to indecent assault.

Wright, 33, had been free on $3,000 bail since his arrest February 26. He was returned to jail today to await sentence next Thursday when a probation report will be at hand. The court will hear the circumstances at that time.

Saanich police made the arrest after identification by a 13-year-old Saanich girl who said a man had picked her up in a car and had taken her to Mount Douglas Park where the indecency is alleged to have taken place.

Following the arrest, police obtained a warrant to seize Wright's car and other items from his home at 143 Wellington. He was represented in court by J. C. Rutian.

The application to have the original charge reduced was made by prosecuting attorney, T. P. O'Grady.

500-HOME PLAN NEW U.K. LINK

By ED McLEAN, Times Business Editor

Royal Portage Parks Ltd.'s projected $8,000,000 self-contained residential community three miles from Victoria's city centre could change the course of low-income housing projects in Canada and create a strong new trade link between Canada and the United Kingdom.

So said Alan Edwards, Toronto, Canadian manager for a British house fabricating firm, Riley-Newsom Ltd., in an exclusive interview at the Empress Hotel.

Mr. Edwards today is en route to Toronto after a fortnight of conferences with Royal Portage officials and architects. Also taking part in the talks was James Riley, the British firm's Washington, D.C., manager. Mr. Riley will return in a month for final conferences.

Mr. Edwards explained during a one-hour-long talk that Riley-Newsom does not pre-fabricate a complete house. The firm's 1,100-workman factory at Lincoln and Gainsbridge, England, builds only the outer sheath.

LOCAL WORKMEN Plumbing and electrical fixtures, painting and decorating—in fact, all "sub-trade work"—are done on the site by local firms and workmen.

Savings in final cost to home builders comes because Riley-Newsom's process transforms residential construction from an entirely "custom-made" operation, as now is the practice in Canada, to a mass-production effort, both on and off the site. Riley-Newsom's 40-inch panel modules—standard in all walls, ceilings, and the roof, whether it be an $8,000 or a $16,000 house—eliminate wastage in workmen's time and materials by ending on-site cutting. Clever engineering binds the modules into a solid frame, and makes it easy for painters and plasterers to create the effect of unbroken exterior and interior walls.

The Riley-Newsom process also ends wastefulness in time and materials used in on-site fitting of electrical and similar services. After his first experience in servicing a Riley-Newsom house, the alert contractor cuts all materials in the shop and his men put the lines together, like clockwork, on the site. The resultant savings are considerable, Mr. Edwards explained.

ALL OVER WORLD "This has been proved all over the world," Mr. Edwards said, citing, particularly, Riley-Newsom houses in CMH's Ajax subdivision, near Toronto, and at Gander and Cornerbrook in Newfoundland.

"Proof not only of savings but of acceptability lies in the fact CMH has re-ordered Riley-Newsom houses," Mr. Edwards said.

Soundness of Riley-Newsom structures is proved by their acceptability, after years of use, in 24 varied climatic conditions ranging from the tropics to the Arctic.

"Actually," said Mr. Edwards, "Riley-Newsom will be only applying mass production methods to building of the sheath of Mr. Craig's contemporary Canadian West coast houses. But, we'll build houses as good as can be produced conventionally, and we'll guarantee reduction in final cost of at least $1,000."

UNION AGREES Details of Riley-Newsom's system were explained to Carpenters union membership here by Mr. Edwards. Subsequently the local union recorded it had no objection to introduction of the Riley-Newsom system in Victoria home-building, as a planned subdivision.

At the moment, Architect Craig and his staff are developing working-drawings of con-

Milkmen Revolt: Defy Board On Regulations

The milk decontrol situation will remain as it is, Agriculture Minister Kiernan said here Thursday night.

Mr. Kiernan was commenting on reports that several independent Vancouver milk distributors would not renew bonds required under milk board regulations.

(Four of the largest independent dairies on the lower mainland Thursday informed their bonding companies and the provincial government that they would not continue beyond March 31 to post bonds guaranteeing they would carry out Milk Board orders.)

(At the same time, an industry-wide appeal for reimposition of milk controls was proposed.)

Power Board, PGE Slammed by CCF-er

There has never been a more damaging indictment of any public body than the Royal Commission report on the Whitsan disaster. Rupert Hagen (CCF, Grand Forks-Greenwood) said in the legislature Thursday.

The report, handed down by Mr. Justice J. V. Cline, held that the three-man power commission and its chief engineer were "negligent," and thus responsible for the $1,000,000 mudslide damage to the power project.

He expressed surprise that

ANTI-RED PACT

Dulles Fights 'Intervention' Accusation

CARACAS, Venezuela (UP)—The United States stood firm today behind its demand for a clear-cut condemnation of Communism in the western hemisphere, ignoring protests from Red-influenced Guatemala and "counsels of despair" from Argentina and Mexico.

All three Latin American nations contend the U.S. resolution now awaiting action by the 10th Inter-American conference here might be used as a pretext for American "intervention" in the affairs of nations south of the border.

REJECTED

Guatemala has flatly rejected the U.S. plan. And Argentina and Mexico favor amendment of the resolution.

Secretary of State John Foster Dulles made it clear Thursday that the United States will not willingly accept any compromise in its efforts to get the nations of the hemisphere clearly on record against Communism.

Dulles said Moscow's Red agents must be solemnly warned "to keep their hands off the hemisphere."

WILLING TO ADD

He said the United States is willing to add clauses to its resolution guaranteeing the right of every Latin American nation to choose its own political, economic, social and cultural system.

The secretary of state added, however, that other amendments sought by Mexico, and supported in general by Argentina are "vague, obscure, legislative, unthinkable, unacceptable" and designed to produce action only after "one of our American republics is made a puppet of international Communism."

Parnell, Hutchison Okay B.E.G. Track

VANCOUVER (CP)—Composition of the British Empire Games stadium track has been approved.

The test was made Monday by Bill Parnell, sprinter Bob Hutchison and two track and field officials, Lloyd Swindells and Fred Rowell, at Exhibition Park. Four tracks, each composed of different mixed ingredients, were laid.

The one approved was composed of 45 per cent coke breeze—fine powdered coal—and 55 per cent clay. This will be used as a covering for the track at the games stadium.

SC Government Wins Division On ICA Briefs

An Opposition resolution that briefs presented to cabinet by labor and management be referred to the select standing committee on labor for study was defeated 26 to 17 in the House Thursday.

It was the second straight division of the House since the Legislature sat.

The resolution moved by Leo Nimisk (CCF, Cranbrook) drew spirited debate. He said that any impending legislation should first be studied in the light of labor briefs presented the government.

Speaking to the resolution, Labor Minister Lyle Wicks said he had had many conferences with both labor and management. "I don't believe there is a minister in the history of B.C. who has had as many," Labor and management presentations, he added, had already been thoroughly studied.

CHANGES PROMISED

Changes to the Industrial Conciliation and Arbitration Act, together with changes to the Workmen's Compensation Act, have been promised for this session.

Liberal leader Arthur Laing said that present work of standing committees was "inadequate" and that much good work resulted when committees met.

He said the cabinet "hugs" every brief to itself, and should learn to share responsibility for political good.

Robert Strachan (CCF, Cowichan-Newcastle) asked the government not to approach the request for committee study of labor and management briefs in a "biased" manner. "We want the best possible legislation... the viewpoints of labor and management," he said.

WOULD SAVE WORK

Bruce Brown (Lib, Prince Rupert) said there was no reason that when a committee had been set up for specific study of various questions, it couldn't be given facts and draw conclusions.

This would assist in eliminating late legislative sittings by relegating much work, he said. Opposition leader Arnold Webster said that in the federal house "most interesting and valuable discussion" resulted in committee work, and members were in a more knowledgeable position to vote when the time arrived.

Dr. Larry Giovanna (PC, Nanaimo) said "no one man has the brains or ability to handle these matters," also urging the briefs be referred to committee. George Gregory (Lib, Victoria) backed the Nanaimo member. He said: "I fail to see how we can vote intelligently unless we have acquired the knowledge. This government seems reluctant to accept even good resolutions from this side of the house."

Lands and Forests Minister Robert Sommers said that when the acts were introduced, the house could go into committee and discuss issues then. Any other way would just delay things, he maintained.

College Wants 'Corpuscle Cup'

An attempt to bring the "Corpuscle Cup" to Victoria will be made by a team from Victoria College next week. Coaches expect to field a team several hundred strong.

The Corpuscle Cup is one of the hardest-fought trophies in the history of Canadian universities. Almost all the student bodies in some schools have been known to fight and bleed for it.

It is won for finest response to Red Cross Blood Bank needs. No matter what school wins, the Red Cross never loses.

The award, a silver replica of a 20 cc. capacity blood container, is awarded by the national Red Cross. Presently it is held by Mount Allison University, Sackville, N.S., where 430 students, 76.17 per cent of the college donated blood. In 1952 it was held by University of British Columbia. Fourteen Canadian Universities compete.

A mobile blood-gathering clinic will operate next Thursday at Victoria College and Normal School. The student body contribution will be the final phase of a four-day drive to obtain 1,200 pints of blood in Greater Victoria.

Officials admit that a figure of 1,200 is "aiming high" but

CITY WANTS B.C. TO PRESS CLAIMS

Mayor's Demands for Free Port, Etc., Dumped In Lap of Province With Request to Sue

Mayor Claude Harrison's claim that Victoria is entitled to fortnightly steamship service to San Francisco; that Esquimalt should be the terminal of the C.P.R.'s transcontinental line; and that Victoria and Esquimalt should be recognized as a Free Port is to be turned over to the provincial government to pursue.

City Council approved this course of action Thursday when Mayor Claude Harrison came to council armed with four thick briefs, covering his arguments in this connection.

He said the briefs should be turned over to Premier W. A. C. Bennett.

SPEED CALLED FOR
"It is rather urgent—from what information has come to me—that these claims be sent over as quickly as possible," the mayor said.

He said the way was open for the provincial government to take suit against the federal government by going to the court and asking for a declaration that a proclamation issued by Sir James Douglas in 1860 and the Terms of Union of 1871 were still valid.

The mayor's contention is that the Douglas Proclamation, issued by authority of the Queen's Privy Council, established Victoria and Esquimalt as a Free Port, and that the Terms of Union provided for the steamship service and the rail link.

Reading from one of his four briefs, the mayor said:

"We can't sue," the mayor told council. "But the province can."

He spoke with utmost confidence and said he felt "each of the three claims will terminate successfully."

He emphasized that the province would not be suing for damages, but would be suing for a declaration.

Ald. Robert Macmillan asked just what was meant by a declaration. The mayor said a declaration was "a judicial finding."

The mayor spent 40 minutes reading from his briefs.

A resolution to have all four briefs sent to the provincial government was made by Ald. Frank Mulliner and seconded by Ald. Millard Mooney. It carried unanimously.

Mayor Claude Harrison campaigned for election in December, 1951 on the Terms of Union issue, emphasizing at that time the steamship service to San Francisco. It was part of his election campaign last December as well.

MLA Suggests RCMP Operate Ambulances

Suggestion that the government establish a highway ambulance service in areas remote from hospitals, to be handled by the RCMP, was forwarded in the Legislature Thursday by Irvine Corbett (S.C. Yale).

He said this was needed with the growing amount of traffic, particularly in the southern portions of the province. And as the RCMP was the first called following an accident, it was reasonable that corps should handle the service.

He suggested also that in reforestation interests, persons who planted trees in a wide spread manner should be granted a timber cut in some other area, basis of which would be the extent of the original planting.

On the problem of secondary roads throughout B.C., which he termed poor, Mr. Corbett said it would be a sound idea to contract road upkeep to local farmers. If they failed to maintain the road properly, the contract would be cancelled. This would get full use of public works graders and machinery, he said, providing "better roads for money spent."

Regarding the proposed 2 per cent sales tax boost, he said he didn't believe tourists would object, even U.S. tourists. Any criticism of the hike "should come at this session," because by the next meeting of the Legislature the scheme would be working so well no criticism would be possible, he predicted.

3 Men Killed in Car Crash Near Geraldton

GERALDTON, Ont. (BUP)—Three men were killed Thursday night when their taxi smashed into a slow-moving wood pulp truck eight miles east of here. A fourth was critically injured. Ernie Clark, 35, of Long Lac, the taxi driver, and Eli Mallette, 60, a Long Lac blacksmith, were killed instantly. Marcel C. Chaput, 55, a Long Lac pulpwood cutter died in the Red Cross Hospital three hours later.

When you support the Red Cross you identify yourself with each act of mercy that this great organization performs anywhere in the world. Your help is needed now.

DETERMINATION, EDUCATION

Tisdalle Tells Key to Success

"Among the young people today there has been a great deal of pampering," and the present generation is reaping what they have sown "20 years ago," D. T. Tisdalle, Socond MLA from Saanich said Thursday.

He told the Legislature in quickly phrased utterances that he "had never drawn any type of unemployment insurance... or any other form of welfare."

Determination, he said, plus a good solid education, was the key to success.

Mr. Tisdalle said he believed teachers were "overpressed" and involved with too many activities. He advocated teachers spend more time with children.

On teacher pay rates he said: "They are highly paid people, not too high, but they are highly paid."

B.C. school curricula demand teachers must have the tools of their trade. He did not specify what these tools were, but said "I insist the department of education give them the tools to do the job right. I don't believe in asking a man to do a job and not give him the tools to work with."

On education generally, probably school construction, Mr. Tisdalle added: "Let's build 'em bigger and better."

In his constituency few people were opposed to the two per cent increase in the sales tax to meet hospital insurance premiums, he said.

He suggested to the government.

Dodgers Rumored In Trading Mood

MIAMI (BUP)—A three-way deal between the Brooklyn Dodgers, Philadelphia Phillies and Cincinnati Redlegs appeared in the making today after Buzzie Bavasi, vice-president of the Brooklyn club, spent the day in conference with Bob Carpenter, president of the Phils, and Gabe Paul, general manager of the Reds. Bavasi admitted that the names of several players were discussed.

"We have been approached by the Phillies for either one of three infielders—Billy Cox, Bobby Morgan and Don Hoak," Bavasi said.

ORLANDO, Fla. (UP)—Outfielder Frank Campos was optioned to Chattanooga in the Southern Association and shortstop Lyle Luitrell was sent to Charlotte in the Sally League today in the Washington Senators' first squad cuts of the spring.

LAKEHURST, N.J. (UP)—Manager Fred Hutchinson of the Detroit Tigers was impressed today by the work of right-handers Dick Donovan and Ray Herbert.

The 26-year-old Donovan and 25-year-old Herbert combined to hold the St. Louis Cardinals to four hits Thursday as the Detroit Tigers scored a 4-1 victory. The win was Detroit's first in Grapefruit League competition after three straight losses.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (UP)—The St. Louis Cardinals were en route by plane today to open a four-game series with the Chicago Cubs in Los Angeles, Calif.

The Cardinals play the Cubs in Los Angeles Saturday and Sunday, meet them in Fresno, Calif., on Monday and in Mesa, Ariz., on Tuesday. They then fly back to St. Petersburg, Fla., where they meet the Cincinnati Redlegs on Thursday. Provided, of course, anyone still has enough energy to play.

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (UP)—Manager Eddie Joost of the Philadelphia Athletics said today that crafty, little Bobby Shantz "is ready to go—right on to a comeback."

Shantz was hit for three runs in as many innings by the Milwaukee Braves Wednesday but Joost said it didn't make any difference.

"We weren't so much concerned with the number of hits or runs Milwaukee made as with the condition of Bobby's arm," coach Rollie Hemisley pointed out. "He threw easily, without effort, yet showed a good curve and fast ball."

TAMPA, Fla. (UP)—Jim Rivera, fleet centre fielder of the Chicago White Sox, was sidelined today after crashing into the centre field fence at Al Lopez Field in a vain effort to catch a fly ball.

Rivera suffered injuries to his chest and the lower part of his left leg and remained overnight at St. Joseph Hospital under the supervision of Dr. Joseph Ruskin.

YUMA, Ariz. (UP)—The Baltimore Orioles hoped to start a new winning streak today when they took on the Chicago Cubs.

The Orioles, who had won five straight Grapefruit League games, suffered their first loss Thursday when Bob Kennedy and Larry Doby homered during a 7-5 victory by the Cleveland Indians.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (UP)—Ken Silvestri, veteran catcher-coach, was given this outright release today by the Philadelphia Phillies.

BRADENTON, Fla. (UP)—Bob Buhl, one of the hardest-throwing young pitchers in the National League, seems certain today to be paired with veteran Warren Spahn as the Milwaukee Braves' 1-2 pitching punch.

Buhl limited the New York Yankees to one run in five innings as the Braves scored a smashing 11-3 victory Thursday to gain credit for his second straight win in the Grapefruit League.

In his previous outing, Buhl shut out the Brooklyn Dodgers with two hits in four innings. He had a 13-8 record as a rookie last season.

That's the trouble with the nag... too darn much early speed!

Calgary Girl Leads Skating

By PHIL ADLER
Canadian Press Staff Writer
CALGARY (CP)—Junior class skaters complete their program today as the Canadian figure skating championships advance into the second day with four titles in the offing.

Joan Shippam of Calgary and Schumacher, Ont., 15-year-old newcomer to championship competition, took a lead over 14 entries seeking the junior women's crown won last year in Ottawa by Sonja Currie of Calgary.

Dianne Williams, clubmate of Miss Shippam, finished second while Pamela Willman of Connaught held third place, a fraction of a point better than fourth-place Karen Dixon of Glenora.

Toronto's Barbara Jacques and Mildred Harris held fifth and sixth positions.

NEW YORK (UP)—Heavyweights Nino Valdes and James J. Parker, tallest fighters in TV history, will clash at Madison Square Garden tonight in a "battle of giants."

Each towers six-foot-three and each is a knockout puncher. Hence, the cry of "timber!" is expected to resound when one of them topples to the canvas in a cloud of resin dust.

NEWARK, N.J.—Jimmy Champagne, 148, Philadelphia, stopped Willie (Kid) Johnson, 148½, Orange, N.J., 17.

United Faces Crucial Test

Victoria United, tied for leadership of the Coast Soccer League, will be playing their final league scheduled contest here this season when they meet New Westminster Royals at Royal Athletic Park Saturday afternoon at 2:30.

It will also probably be the last time for starry netminder Bill McAllister, who has been the club's mainstay throughout the season.

McAllister has enlisted in the RCAF and is expected to be posted to some other region next week. Team officials have been unable to find a replacement for McAllister as yet.

Victory for United on Saturday is a "must." United is currently deadlocked with North Shore for first place with 12 points. However, Victoria has only four games remaining, while Shores have five and the third-place Royals six.

Royals are two points back of the leaders, and a victory for the mainland club Saturday would boost it into a tie with United.

McAllister will be between the posts, with Bill Hope and Joe Robbins providing protection from the fullback spots. Herman Henry will centre Harry Carruthers and Jack Robbins on the halfback line, while playing coach Wally Milligan will pivot for Cedric Robb and Jim Turner on his right and George Wright and Tim Walker on the left to form the attacking unit.

Chick Newman, Hec McIntyre, Bill McMillan and Ab Travis will be available for substitution.

PICKBURN RETURNS
Royals will have Ken Pears in goal with Ray Kearns and Allan Sawyer as fullbacks. John Pickburn, Jack Whent and Bill Hyslop will compose the halfback line.

Jack Spry will be at centre on the forward line with Bob Lewis and Hugh Crossan on the left and Ivan Carr and Jack Bowers on the right. Subs are Bob Findler, Les Hibbard, Tom Druce, Tom McKay, Tom Nelson and Paul Fabris.

G. Adams will be referee with Len Isaacson and J. Shaw as linesmen.

RUSSIA TAKES GOOD CARE OF HER OWN

TORONTO (CP)—The Russian hockey team in the world amateur championships at Stockholm had a bodyguard of 14 men wherever they went, a Canadian player said on arrival home Tuesday night.

"We never saw a player alone," Eric Unger said in an interview. "They moved around in a body, in their hotel, restaurant and at the stadium, and always the 14 guys were with them."

MCC Stopped By Good Bowling

PORT OF SPAIN, Trinidad (CP)—England's touring all-star cricket team, the Marylebone Cricket Club, lost two wickets for 40 runs after dismissing Trinidad for 329 in the second day of their match here.

Quick putouts of Peter May and Ken Suttle followed good bowling and fielding by the MCC which yielded eight Trinidad wickets for 163 runs Thursday.

May was out on the first ball and Suttle went with 32 on the board.

Alan Moss and Freddie Trueman bowled with speed and hostility for England. Moss took four wickets for 63. Trueman, who took three for 75, dismissed Jeff Stollmeyer, who had added only one run to his overnight 88.

BALDWIN BEATEN IN CAR BONSPIEL
EDMONTON (CP)—Truman Bailey of Tugaskie, Sask., and Billy MacDonald of Calgary were the two section leaders as the 12-rink round-robin playoffs headed into the windup today at the Edmonton car bonspiel.

Bailey won his first three matches in section B Thursday while MacDonald also had a spotless record.

MacDonald surprised by edging out a 10-9 decision over Matt Baldwin of Edmonton, 1954 Dominion curling champion. Baldwin was down 6-1 after six ends and could not catch up.

Bailey also scored a big 9-7 upset over Pete McIntyre of Trail, B.C.

Soccer Classes Resume

Over 400 youngsters are expected to turn out Saturday in the second session of soccer classes held by the Little League Coaches' Association at 10 parks.

Fundamentals of soccer will be given to the youngsters and they will take part in practice games.

Invitations are offered to any youngsters, whether they attended the first session or not, to turn out at 10 Saturday.

Snooker Standings

Victoria Inter-Club Snooker League standings follow:
Britannia 67, ANAF Vets 56, Elks 54, Eagles 50, Tillicums 49, Pro Pats 48.

WON'T SUBSIDIZE HOCKEY

Hands-Off Policy Maintained by Gov't

By BRITISH UNITED PRESS
Authoritative government sources have told the British United Press that suggestions the government subsidize an amateur hockey team for future world ice hockey competition will be rejected.

Officials pointed out the view always has been that the government has no place in sports and the matter of financing international teams was a problem for the amateur hockey groups.

"The Canadian government will continue to follow that policy," the source stated.

Frank Boucher, general manager of the New York Rangers, Tuesday called upon the Canadian government to subsidize the team which competes in world hockey tournaments following Canada's shocking 7-2 upset loss to Russia's Moscow Dynamo in the title game of the world ice hockey championship.

Belgian Girl Wants Job Here—But on Ship

BY VICTOR MACKIE
Times/Ottawa Correspondent
OTTAWA—An 18-year-old Belgian girl who loves the sea is ready to accept the offer of Senator R. B. Horner to come to Canada under his sponsorship, on one condition—that he find her a job on board a ship.

Liliane Soudemont, of Ostende, Belgium, is the girl. She has written the Saskatchewan senator thanking him for the interest he has shown in her case. However she has stressed that she does not want to take up a domestic's job in Canada nor is she interested in any indoors job in this country.

She wants to make her home on a ship and is prepared if necessary to work as a deck hand. The girl is the "Jeanne Mutton" who disguised herself as a man, worked her way across the Atlantic as a seaman and was exposed last December by Canadian immigration authorities in Montreal. She was deported. She attracted considerable publicity when the ship carrying her back to her homeland was sailing down the St. Lawrence river and she had to be restrained from jumping overboard to swim to Canada.

Senator Horner Thursday disclosed the contents of the letter from the girl. He reiterated his willingness to pay her passage to Canada. Senator Horner says he can find her an outdoor job on a western farm if she is really serious about insisting on working outside. He thinks that ultimately she may find driving a tractor just as exciting as sailing the high seas.

The Red Cross canvasser is a volunteer. He is happy and proud to call on you. You can do your share by contributing to the Canadian Red Cross.

CPR Sells Four Mountain Lodges

CALGARY (CP) — Four of the CPR's best-known mountain lodges, Wapta, Yoho, O'Hara and Twin Falls, have been purchased by a newly formed company for an undisclosed amount. The announcement was made by Austin Ford of the purchasing company, Brewster-Ford Mountain Lodges Limited. Mr. Ford is vice-president of the firm; Claude Brewster of Banff is president, and Mr. Brewster's son, C. "Bud" Brewster, a director.

Hockey Player Pleads Guilt To 2 Funeral Theft Charges

Two charges of breaking and entering, one with theft, and one with intent to commit theft, were read against 25-year-old Raymond Stephen Fogg in Saanich police court today. He pleaded guilty to both and was remanded one week for sentence.

Fogg, a Commercial League hockey player, had previously pleaded guilty to three robberies in Victoria and was remanded without plea on two other break-in charges in Oak Bay. He was to appear again in Oak Bay court later today and in city court Monday.

Catholic Newspaper Raps Sen. McCarthy

LONDON (Reuters) — The Catholic Herald, a weekly newspaper, Thursday accused Senator Joseph McCarthy, himself a Roman Catholic, of initiating a "reign of terror" in the United States. It said in an editorial the whole outlook of a Roman Catholic like McCarthy and his Catholic supporters is misdirected and involves its own betrayal of Christian principles.

Lakehead Grain Stocks History's Second Highest

WINNIPEG (CP) — Lakehead grain stocks stood at 80,000 bushels for the week ended March 3, a level surpassed only during the Second World War years.

The board of grain commissioners reported today the total reflected an increase of 1,300,000 bushels from the previous week as car-unloadings of 2,000,000 bushels exceeded rail shipments of 700,000 bushels.

Port William Port Arthur elevators held 140,000 bushels of all grains at April 1, 1942 — almost complete capacity.

$1 Million Factory Planned at Vancouver

VANCOUVER (CP) — Plans for a new $1,000,000 wire rope factory in Vancouver were announced Wednesday by Wrights Canadian Rope, Limited.

The new factory in South Vancouver will replace the company's 27-year-old plant on Granville Island. Construction will start next fall.

Rolland Paper's Net Up Sharply From 1952

MONTREAL (CP) — Net profit of Rolland Paper Company Limited increased sharply in 1953 to $549,586 from $259,246 the previous year, the company's annual report showed today.

Net profit was equal to $7.05 a share against $3.21 a share in 1952.

Hudson Bay Mining Revenue, Profit Cut

NEW YORK (CP) — Hudson Bay Mining & Smelting today reported 1953 gross income at $45,229,102 compared with $51,867,013 in the preceding year. The year's profit was $11,456,023 ($4.15 a share) compared with $14,799,273 ($5.37 a share) in 1952.

$ EXCHANGE

VICTORIA — Banks buying United States cash and cheques at 2 1/2 per cent. Selling U.S. cheques at 2 1/2 per cent. Silver is unchanged at 8 per cent.

MONTREAL — United States dollar worth 97 cents Canadian. Pound sterling worth 82 1/2 cents Canadian. Canadian dollar worth 97 1/2 cents U.S. dollar. Sterling worth 82 1/2 cents U.S. dollar.

BETWEEN TIMES

By MONTE ROBERTS

Report on the pup who came to live at our house three weeks ago.

To be perfectly frank, I have been trying to avoid this report. I had hoped silence on the subject would suffice. But the constituents keep asking, so I shall have to reveal the horrid truth.

I am at the point of giving up on Judy, Boots Streak (better known as J.B.) as an incorrigible.

In fact, I am expecting the SPCA to revoke my membership any minute now, and possibly throw me in the pokey for contributing to juvenile delinquency.

J.B., at the normally tender age of eight weeks, is showing an array of alarming characteristics, and I feel the responsibility is mine.

Her trouble has arisen through environment, not heredity.

J.B., who, in the normal course of events should grow up to be some sort of a Collier, shows every indication of becoming (hold your breath) a female CITY EDITOR! Or even (heaven forbid) a MANAGING EDITOR!

The fault, of course, is mine. And I will go quietly, SPCA, pleading guilty due to gross negligence.

The trouble is, when J.B. first came to my house, she asked me what I did for a living. So I told her.

She sneered at me, and I decided to take her to The Times office, hoping she would see for herself what an arduous life I lead.

For the first day or so, she remained quietly under the desk, studying things out, seeing how a newsroom operates.

But it wasn't long before she decided where her OWN career in the newspaper business would lead her. As you will plainly see.

1. J.B. quickly learned how to chew copy paper. All city editors and—excuse the expression—managing editors chew copy paper. I once knew a managing editor who chewed up the main story slated for page one and then fired everyone in sight because there was no main story for page one.

2. J.B. soon developed an insatiable curiosity. In addition to wishing to know who, what, when, where, why, and how, she demanded proof. (e.g., not only do I have to tell her why she should pay attention to the word "NO," but I have to prove it.)

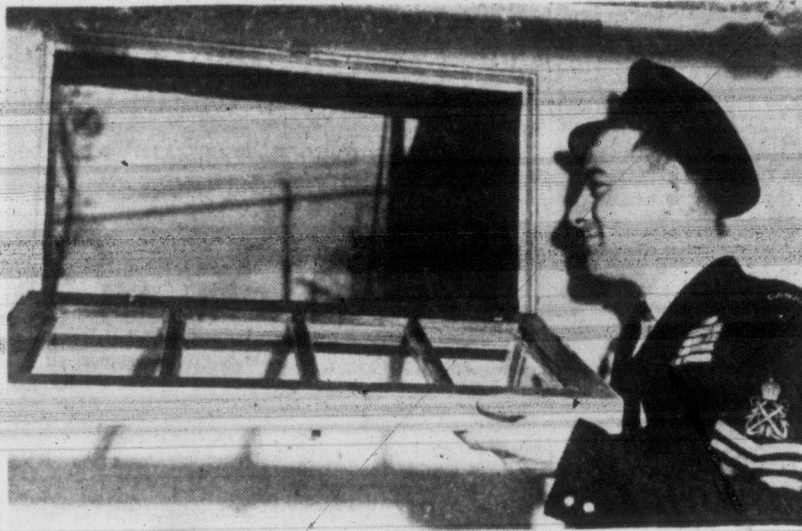

3. J.B., by observing others in the newsroom, has developed a querulous, sharp, piercing bark—which is, of course, the first requisite of a city editor.

4. J.B. has already mastered the art of snatching a reporter's copy from his typewriter and walking all over it. (This qualifies her as either a city editor or—must I say it?—managing editor.)

5. J.B. is practicing the art of chewing out reporters. So far, she has progressed no farther than the cuffs of their trousers... but she obviously has higher ambitions.

I am truly sorry I had to deliver this report on J.B. To think I have nurtured a potential city editor or (no, no, not that) managing editor!

The only consolation is I doubt if she'll ever make publisher. She just HATES cigars.

CIVIC LEADERS REPORT TO VICTORIA

Oil Rich Edmonton Grows Apace; Blitz-Hit Southampton Recovers

North's Gateway Rushing Ahead

By MONTE ROBERTS

Ten million, 20 million, 40 million, 80 million, dollars, dollars, dollars.

If it's less than a million you just don't mention it in Edmonton.

This is the impression left after a chat with the mayor of the "Gateway to the North," William Hawrelak, a Victoria visitor following a trip to Vancouver on private business.

Mayor Hawrelak, a swarthy, volatile, fast-talker with to hump, to stay even with progress," he said.

In a word, says Mayor Hawrelak, "we are reaching still another phase in our era of expansion."

As an example of the jobs the city fathers must accomplish to keep up with the city's growth, he cited:

Construction in 1953 of 80 miles of sidewalk, 30 miles of curbing, 32 miles of sewer pipe, 24 miles of water pipe.

The mayor also has aviation statistics at his finger tips: last year, the airport recorded 193,000 take-offs and landings, as against 136,000 the year before.

to about 185,000 population, nearly our pre-war size."

DOWN—NOT OUT

Mr. Pugh, who was elected to the Southampton council in 1920 and served as mayor during 1929, had his own experience with the blitz.

One Sunday, the law office in which he is a partner was fire-bombed. On Monday, the partners met at a private home, mourning over their lost business. "We didn't have even a pencil or a bit of paper to start with," Mr. Pugh said.

"But we were back in business by noon."

Mr. Pugh's firm is Hephert.

WORLD'S CROSSROADS

"It is obviously true we are at the crossroads of the world," he said. "But it is also true we are at the economic crossroads of Canada. Our growth will benefit the whole nation. Already we are supplying west and east with oil via pipelines. Soon there'll be natural gas... and we have immense reserves of both."

As a clinching statistic, the mayor pointed out that Edmonton, with 1.15 per cent of Canada's population, has built 4 per cent of the nation's new homes since the war.

"And they are 77.8 per cent owner occupied," he added proudly.

U.K.'s Big Port Back to Prewar

On the other side of the world from burgeoning Edmonton is Southampton, slowly climbing back to pre-war size after absorbing an inhuman beating during the blitz.

Today a former mayor of Southampton, M. H. Pugh, talked about the rebirth of his city as he sat in the smoking-room of MS. Loch Garth, berthed at Ogden Point.

"It's a slow, long job," he said. "But we're getting there. Re-building is speeding up somewhat, and the citizens who were bombed out are slowly coming back."

"I believe we are now up eloquent voice and an impressive grasp of statistics, tosses the millions around casually, but without disrespect.

To him, they aren't dollars—they are signposts on Edmonton's road to ever-increasing growth.

KEPT HUMMING

To keep up with Edmonton's "astounding, phenomenal" growth is a real challenge to Mayor and council. "We have Winstanley & Pugh. He is on a round-trip vacation, U.K. to Pacific Coast, aboard the Royal Mail Lines passenger-cargo combination.

Asked if he had retired, Mr. Pugh said: "Of course not. In England, we can't afford to retire."

Mrs. Pugh is accompanying her husband on the voyage.

Two Ratings Sought In Navy Jail Escape

Men Cut Bars From Window in Cell Of Detention Block at Esquimalt

Two sailors, who carved their way from a Naden detention block with pocket knives Thursday night, were the object today of a widespread search by RCMP, city and district police as well as naval forces.

Escaped from a cell block located beside the main gate to HMCS Naden are Paul D. Vickers, 19, and Donald J. MacDonald, 23. Naval authorities said both the men are rated as Able Seamen Cooks. They are thought to have made their escape at about 8 p.m. Thursday.

The men had carved V-shaped notches into a washroom window-sill below the bars which were sunk into wooden frames.

Officials said the task must have taken hours and the project was likely under way for some days.

'JUMPED SHIP'

Vickers was being held for "jumping ship" while serving in HMCS Sioux. MacDonald faced desertion charges.

RCMP officers said the men were dressed in blue dungarees, blue sweaters and blue suit coats at the time of the break. They suspect the pair teamed up with two other sailors after making their bid for freedom.

Once clear of the cell block window, the men had to travel only a few feet to reach an easily scaled fence to get clear of the naval garrison area.

Naval authorities were replacing the three bars which the escapees removed. But this time the bars will pass through the woodwork and be embedded in the cement foundation of the building.

The washroom is at the end of the corridor leading to the cells and the window which the pair squeezed through faces an unused area behind the gate sentry quarters.

Seven Fines Grow From One Incident

The court clerk needed an adding machine to add up fines arising out of one incident in city police court today.

A city car dealer sent two men to a railway yard to bring back two new cars. They also brought back news that police had laid seven different charges against the firm and drivers.

National Motors, 819 Yates, pleaded guilty and was fined $10 on each of two charges of employing chauffeurs without first checking that they had licenses.

The men, Michael Mastrianni, 726 Cloverdale, and William Thomas Dobell, 669 Burnside, shared five charges, $65 in fines.

Mastrianni paid $25 for having no driver's license, $10 for having no chauffeur's license and $10 for driving a car with only one license plate attached.

Dobell paid $10 for no chauffeur's license and $10 for having only one plate on the car.

Defense attorney George Gregory explained that the men had begun the job without realizing that a chauffeur's license was required and that Mastrianni, on leave from the RCAF, had not known his driver's license had expired. He said the men had only one set of plates and hadn't realized that they should have moved one car at a time or towed one.

Magistrate H. C. Hall agreed that the laws did not appear to be intentionally ignored, but explained the fines levied were the minimum.

Public Works Estimates Up $25,000

A public works budget amounting to nearly $300,000 was submitted today by city engineer Cyril Jones to city council's public works committee, sitting to consider 1954 estimates.

The budget, as presented, calls for an expenditure of $189,473, up $24,876 from last year's appropriation.

The committee, before adjourning, cut only $14,050 off. Other "paring" meetings will be held.

The committee eliminated $10,000 for new equipment, and decided to forego three new traffic lights costing $4,050.

The lights were intended for Cook and Yates, Blanshard and Johnson, Blanshard and View.

STEEL WORK

The budget calls for expenditure of $100,000 for new street work under a five-year program; $86,000 for permanent street maintenance, and $58,024 for unpaved street maintenance.

Bridge maintenance this year will run to $37,014. Operation and maintenance of the Johnson Street span will cost an estimated $33,414. Point Ellice bridge is given a $2,100 allocation for maintenance.

The budget calls for $34,435 for street signs and traffic signals; $16,500 for seawall maintenance; $15,086 for maintenance, operation and collection of parking meters; $13,734 for rock blasting and crushing. Administration costs are estimated at $76,304.

The estimates call for purchase of 107 new parking meters. It is planned to install 65 new meters on Yates, between Blanshard and Quadra, and 35 on Herald, between Blanshard and Douglas. Cost of meters is $10,486.

Modelling fashionable stockings at the Hudson's Bay hosiery show Saturday, will be Miss PNE of 1950, Mrs. Marjorie Goodwin. Latest styles and colors will be shown by other models and hosiery experts will be on hand to answer stocking problems.

Wanted

Clifford Dawley, 44, escaped convict who has operated in this area at various times since 1932, is object of police manhunt. He escaped from Vancouver General Hospital last Sunday while being treated for back injuries. He was at Oakalla awaiting trial on an habitual criminal charge at Nanaimo, Spring Assizes. Dawley is a son of a former Esquimalt police chief. RCMP say he uses an alias, Bert Norton, is 5 foot 11, black curly hair, brown eyes, partially paralyzed left hand, works as a seaman. He may be using a stolen, blue 1949 Meteor, license 2E-587. Recent charges against him include assault, and breaking and entering.

13-Cent Boost For Painters in 2-Year Contract

Agreement on a two-year contract providing a 13-cent hourly increase has been reached between Victoria Building Industries Exchange and 220 painters represented by the Brotherhood of Painters, Decorators and Paperhangers' Local 1163.

Terms have been agreed upon by 40 independent contractors, according to Don Bushell, union business agent.

A five-cent hourly raise immediately will be followed by three cents per hour in October, and an additional five cents in April.

The agreement also will provide for 10 cents per hour additional pay for scaffold work over 40 feet in height, 45 cents for work over 100 feet, 10 cents for work over injurious chemicals, and a guaranteed room and board allowance of $80 per month.

Polish Immigrant Jumped Ship Again?

Belief that Richard Nowalinski, Polish engineer deported from Canada, may have jumped ship again, was expressed here today by persons connected with the case.

Nowalinski is not aware that he has been granted a visa and no word has been received from him by Mrs. William Rogers, 42 South Turner, with whom he corresponds.

James A. A. George, local Progressive Conservative official, will ask the federal government through Major Gen. R. G. Peakes, VC, MP, to find Nowalinski and return him to Canada.

"They were the ones to send him out," said Mr. George.

Nowalinski, deported from Canada in January, was granted a visa on an application made in September.

ASK The TIMES

Q.—Do immigrants employed in Canada have the same income tax exemption as Canadians? If not, please state the difference.—Miss V. T.

A.—This column is informed the exemptions are identical. If a non-Canadian is domiciled in this country for only part of a year the exemption is prorated on number of days the individual worked. If an immigrant's family is living in another country and he wishes to support them there he is required to bring proof.

Q.—How many oil wells have been drilled at Boundary Bay and the Fraser River estuary? I particularly wish to know the depth of the deepest hole drilled.—F. R.

A.—Records show that in the Vancouver and Fraser Delta district 36 wells have been drilled in the last 50 years. The deepest is listed as that of the Natural Gas and Development Corporation, 5,115 feet. None of the drillers went below the tertiary strata and while pockets of gas were found, there is stated to be no authentic information of oil in commercial quantities.

Anyone wishing a question answered is invited to send the problem along to The Times, addressed to "Ask The Times" Editor. Questions and answers will be published daily. All questions should deal with matters of fact and be of general interest. The Times does not undertake to solve conundrums.

TOPICS OF THE TIMES

Two drivers received minor injuries in traffic accidents Thursday

John C. Wilkie, Sidney, had an injured hand when he climbed from his car after it went off Prospect Lake Road just before midnight. He was treated for lacerations at Jubilee Hospital. The car received medium damage. He blamed the accident on faulty steering mechanism.

A collision at Hillside and Wark sent Arthur Sharp, 2450 Quadra, to Jubilee in the afternoon with a gashed forehead. Other driver involved was Gerald Smith, 918 Catskill.

Commander J. S. Day will show color movies of "Australian wildlife and aborigines" at a meeting of the Victoria Riding and Gymkana Club next Monday at 8 p.m. in the CCF Hall on Richmond Road.

Thirty-first Alberta Battalion Association will meet in the War Pensioners of Canada Office, Yarrow Building, Fort Street, at 8 tonight.

The film "No Barriers" will be shown at the monthly meeting of the Air Force Officers' Association next Wednesday, at 8.15 p.m., at the Pacific Club.

Passing on the right got two drivers into trouble today. Edward H. Smart, 3965 Glanford and Reginald Gillard, 2090 Chauger, each paid $10 in city police court.

FUN WITH FIGURES

By J. A. HUNTER

"I've paid back a quarter of the loan," said Mr. Whitehead, "and I only wish I could let you have the rest today." Mr. Blackhead, one of those wealthy merchants who watch the cents and so accumulate dollars, smiled kindly: "I'm rather short, of course, what with my new house and everything," he told his friend, "but your little debt is nothing; don't worry about it." Mr. Whitehead flushed; this was unexpected generosity from one who always boasted that he never mixed business with friendship. "Perhaps I could manage," he hesitated, for every cent meant so much during those next few weeks, "manage $25 today; that would leave only two-thirds of the loan unpaid." Mr. Blackhead's smile broadened: "I wouldn't hear of it," he replied, "what sort of a friend do you think I am?" How much had Mr. Whitehead borrowed?

Thursday's answer: Jim is thirty-eight.

Salad Days Appear With Spring Sunshine... U-m-m-h!

By PENNY SAVER

With rainy weather, ideal for gardening, now upon us, a crisp salad that can be readied in a jiffy, is the answer to most of our cooking problems.

How would you like a California salad in Victoria? Well... it's possible. A local store has all sorts of fresh vegetables right from California, and crisp and fresh as though they had just been picked from your own garden.

Take for instance the lovely fresh radishes that add tang to salads. They're available in 10-cent bunches (California imports) or in cellophane bags at 18 cents a bag. These are from Texas.

A cucumber salad sounds delicious, and is so easy to make. For 39 cents a pound, these nice fresh cucumbers are available in most food stores, so you can add a delicious extra to Sunday dinner. They are crisp and fresh... straight from California.

And for that special onion flavor, fresh green California onions are now available at 10 cents per bunch. Use the crisp tasty greens in your salads and the onion as a side dish... Mmmm... just like summer!

New on the market are red cabbages. They're imported from California, too, and add a truly delicious side vegetable. The lovely tasting tender young vegetable is only 12 cents a pound.

Fresh asparagus, right from... guess where... yes, California... came in yesterday. Just looking at it made my mouth water. Looked as tender as a lamb... figuratively speaking, that is... and only 37 cents a pound.

In this same food section, something struck my fancy... the most unusual array of cacti I have ever seen. They're all shapes imaginable and some have a fine growth of white hair.

Potted in beautifully-colored containers, these weird shaped plants make a lovely addition to your plant collections.

TODAY'S RECIPE

MACARONI AND SHRIMP

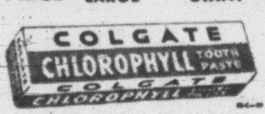

One and half cups macaroni, 1 tsp. minced onion, 3 tbsp. butter, 1½ tsp. flour, 1½ cups milk, ¾ cup grated cheese, 1 tsp. Worcestershire sauce, ½ tsp. lemon juice, 1 tsp. salt, few grains paprika, 1½ cups cleaned shrimp.

Cook macaroni in plenty of boiling salted water until tender. Rinse and drain well. Sauté onion in melted butter, and blend in flour. When well blended, stir in milk, most of the cheese (save enough to top the dish), and the rest of the ingredients, except the shrimp. This will make a substantial cream sauce. Place alternate layers of macaroni and shrimp in a baking dish, and pour sauce on top. Top the casserole with bread crumbs and grated cheese and bake in a moderate oven for 45 minutes.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Bone Can't Be Reduced; This 13-Year-Old Is Okay

Q.—"Although my legs are not thin, the tops of my knee bones stick out. Is there any exercise I can do for this? I am 13 years old, 5 feet 3½ inches tall and weigh 107. My bust measures 34 inches, waist 23 inches and hips 34 inches. Are my measurements and weight correct?"

A.—You are just about per- fect. Sorry, but I cannot reduce bone with exercise. Don't worry about the knees.

Q.—"I do not have anyone to talk to about menstrual periods. I am 15 years old and have never had one. I am a little afraid be- cause I do not know what to ex- pect, and as I said, have no one to talk to. You seem so under- standing when you answer the other girls in your question box."

A.—I could be more helpful if you had given me your name and address. Why not write to me personally? However, do not be afraid. This is a perfectly natural process.

Q.—"Please tell me what to do for a double chin and sagging tissues. Also where can I get a harmless rinse to darken my hair. I am 45 years old."

A.—Do this exercise for the double chin. Lower the head backward as far as comfortable. Raise the head and touch the chin to the chest. Again lower the head backward. Raise and continue.

I think that facial exercises are helpful to contour. If you would like mine, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 9, "Facial Exercises."

There are many rinses but some are much superior to others. Your beauty operator may suggest a good one or you may rely upon the advice of a well-trained sales person handling these products.

Canadian Nurse Calls Hundreds Of Korean Orphans—'My Babies'

By ELIZABETH FORBES

A whim of Fate that placed a United Church missionary monthly in the hands of Miss Beulah Bourns, soon after she had graduated as a nurse from Winnipeg General Hospital, in the early 1930s, changed the whole course of her life.

"I belonged to the Baptist Church," she remembers, "and my father was an Anglican. But when I read in that little magazine that the United Church needed missionary nurses for Korea, I decided to apply for the work."

Her kindly eyes twinkled a bit as she added, "when I was accepted, of course I became a member of United Church."

Miss Bourns first went to North Korea in 1932 where she worked for nearly 10 years. She was finally interned, first in a camp in Korea and then in Kobe, Japan and was repatriated on the Ss. Gripsholm.

THREE DURING WAR

She worked in several fields in Canada, including United Church hospital at Burns Lake, B.C., until 1948 when she returned to Korea—to the Severance Hospital in Seoul. In 1950 she was again evacuated to Japan but after a few months obtained permission to return to Korea—the first nurse to be permitted to go back during hostilities.

The hospital, which had included a medical college and training school for nurses, was badly bombed. In fact, there was little left.

"But we were able to repair one wing and the army helped us with another. We were also given a brand new 40-bed unit by the civilian association, that was to be used for care of Korean orphans."

That first winter while the hospital was being rebuilt, Miss Bourns worked part-time at the 8th Army orphanage where there were tiny children in need of care.

She remembers her first sight of that orphanage... "a huge cold building and 45 helpless wee babies."

Those babies were finally evacuated to Cheju Island but Miss Bourns was started on a new phase of her work—with the helpless children left in the wake of war.

Miss Beulah Bourns, speaking to the Women's Missionary Society of the United Church in Metropolitan Church hall, Thursday afternoon, was given a surprise shower of baby clothes for her hundreds of tiny orphans in far-off Korea. From here, she goes to Squamish and Prince George to fulfill speaking engagements.

In the new wing opened at the Seoul Hospital sick babies were taken in daily. They were cared for, fed and their bodies made well.

"Then we had to let them go again," Miss Bourns said sorrowfully, "it was always a heart-break." She did manage, however, to keep in touch with many of them, for she had a jeep and kept on the move taking supplies to her babies and bringing what relief she could.

The Koreans named her "Chun-on-su" which means "running silver water." They gave her that name for her work among their children. A work that grew and expanded with the needs of the hundreds of orphans.

Last summer Miss Bourns came back to Canada on furlough which means, in her own words, "a year to be divided into vacation time, study and speaking engagements."

The time has come for the speaking engagements, so she is travelling to various places in Canada, talking about her babies, and showing pictures of the orphanages and the work that is being done in Korea for these children.

"They are just like children the world over," she says, "some rough and tumble, some soft and tender."

To Be Married on Saturday

Mr. and Mrs. Oliver W. Pauline, 336 Poul Bay Road, are today announcing the engagement of their daughter, Shirley, to Mr. Irvine Cormack, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Alan Cormack, of Victoria. The wedding will take place this Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock in St. Mary's Church, Oak Bay, with Archdeacon A. E. deL. Nunn officiating.

Normal School Teacher Defends Education Standards of B.C.

Stoutly defending British Columbia's educational system, Dr. Henry Johnson, Victoria Normal School teacher said that today's problem of "teacher supply" is paramount.

Dr. Johnson, guest speaker Thursday at the Victoria Rotary Club's luncheon in the Empress, said that "in spite of the controversy in Canada and the United States over the merits and demerits of modern education, we are fortunate in B.C. in having a very good school system."

B.C. schools are well staffed, said Dr. Johnson, "but they may soon begin to feel the pinch."

British Columbia, to keep abreast a fast growing school population, should produce 1,200 new teachers each year.

"But we're falling short of that," said Dr. Johnson. Last year 668 teachers graduated from normal schools in British Columbia—only one half the required number.

While the need in metropolitan centres is not great, rural areas have still more difficulty finding teachers.

Teacher shortage, said Dr. Johnson, seems to be a "world wide phenomenon."

The situation in Canada will get worse before it gets better, he said.

In British Columbia, in 1954, 4,300 teachers are engaged in elementary classes. By 1960, predicted Dr. Johnson, 4,700 teachers will be required. The secondary schools' teacher requirements will be even greater.

In 1954, 2,750 are teaching in secondary schools and by 1960, 4,000 will be needed.

If there were an ample supply of teachers, said Dr. Johnson, the standard of qualifications would be raised. If not—the qualifications may be lowered.

"Most of us," he said, "would be sorry to see such a policy go into effect. Today in B.C. only one per cent of the teachers have less than minimum qualifications. In many other provinces, the ratio is much higher.

The answer is not to lower the standard of qualification but to "give the profession more respect and more dignity in the eyes of the public and the student," and thus induce more to enter the teaching profession.

He said it was "no wonder" that the morale of the teaching profession "has sunk," after all the criticisms hurled at the school systems.

"Secondary education is trying to do far more for every boy and girl than has ever been done before," said Dr. Johnson.

The types that should be encouraged to join the teaching profession are those with attractive personalities, those who enjoy learning, have good moral character and are loyal to democracy.

'Blackwood Park' To Be Retained, Council Decides

An unimproved "green area" bounded by Haultain, Cook and Blackwood, is to remain as parkland.

City Council Thursday adopted a recommendation of the Victoria Town Planning Commission that the triangular plot be kept as it is. Council earlier had sought the commission's opinion because a real estate firm said it would buy the land for a client wanting to establish a service station.

Town planners felt a service station there would create a traffic hazard. Nearby residents also voiced objection.

Army Recruiting Team Succeeds

By ROY THORSEN

Three-man recruiting team touring Vancouver Island for army recruits is averaging about one man or boy a day.

Team comprises Lieut. Ralph Gorham, in command, Sgt. Ralph Harrup and Bdr. Gary Rutherford. Headquarters is at Bay Street Armoury.

The team is not using high-pressure salesmanship to bring in the new soldiers. A most democratic system is being employed.

GIVE THE FACTS

Bdr. Rutherford said that they did not sign the boys up. "We merely give those interested all the facts we know about the army, conditions, pay, trade opportunities, etc."

"If they are still interested we send them to MD 11 depot in Vancouver. There they are interviewed by the PSO (personnel selection officer). They are under no obligation to enlist and if they have a change of mind after hearing the PSO they don't have to join," Bdr. Rutherford explained.

Transportation and food is provided both ways.

He said recruits are being sought from 18 years up to 40 and 45 if the man has a trade. Seventeen-year-olds are accepted side the main doors.

provided they have parents' consent.

The recruiting team members pointed out that the army today offers an opportunity for boys—16-year-olds. They are called soldier-apprentices. There are a number of valuable trades these youngsters can take.

Every third week each member of the team makes the up-island tour.

Enquiries regarding enlistment will be answered at the armoury by a team representative any week day. They are in a room on the right just in the main doors.

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Former middleweight boxing champion Jake La Motta, 169½, the Bronx, N.Y., knocked out Johnny Pretzie, 188, Boston, in 142 of the fourth round of a scheduled 10-rounder at the Legion Arena here Thursday night.

It was La Motta's first fight on a comeback. He had not fought since December, 1952.

IWA Start Contract, Pay Talks Saturday

VANCOUVER (CP)—The International Woodworkers of America (CIO-CCL) will hammer out 1954 wage and contract demands here Saturday and Sunday. The demands will go out to 158 coastal lumber operators.

Union leaders refused to speculate on amounts, which, they said, will depend on the decision of about 90 delegates and staff men. The staff and policy committee met Thursday and was to meet again Friday to lay the ground-work for the wages and policy conference at the weekend.

Blindness From Birth Proves No Unsurmountable Handicap

By RUTH WALSH

Not so many years ago a young woman graduated from senior high school with honors in maths. Her parents were extremely proud . . . for Myrtle Steele had been blind since birth.

Mrs. Steele and her four-year-old son came to Victoria about a year ago. To Mrs. Steele Victoria is no different from her native Regina . . . except that street blocks are not square and that the humid sea-level climate makes her feel chilly most of the time.

Last summer Mrs. Steele visited Butchart's Gardens. "But I couldn't appreciate it," she said. To her it was just a stroll. She has great difficulty describing things — particularly animals—to her young son, and the only description she can give is a technical one.

THE UNSEEN COW

Mrs. Steele has never touched a cow. Here is how she describes it.

"They are various colors . . . brown, white and black. They have horns, but I can't picture the position of the horns in relation to the ears, and I can't describe the shape of the ears.

As for the nose . . . I don't know what shape it is or exactly where it is located. They have a tail and are about the size of a horse."

Throughout the description, Mrs. Steele had to stop and concentrate.

She cannot picture a flower, a landscape, a city, an animal or a human being.

To Mrs. Steele, these things are complex forms made up of singular objects whose shape she is able to define technically, but is unable to picture.

As a child, she believed others to have an appearance identical to that of herself.

One day when her mother remarked, "here comes Verna's uncle," she questioned: "but how do you know it's Verna's uncle?"

"I can see him," her mother replied.

"Yes, but how do you know?" she wondered.

RAINBOW MYSTERY

"I've often wondered what a rainbow looks like," she said. "The moon to me is a ball of light . . . but I can't picture it in its different phases. The sun is a similar object. But I wonder about the man in the moon."

Her greatest longing is to be able to see her son . . . a good looking youngster with an impish grin and enormous eyes.

She is a good typist and typed her high school examination. Her maths exam was an oral one and she passed it with flying colors.

"Maths would have been my field had I been sighted," she said.

Her husband also was blind from birth, but for years the two have earned a living from a small confectionery in the Grey Nuns Hospital at Regina.

Mrs. Steele hopes to find employment in Victoria for her husband who now operates the hospital confection stand in Regina. If no job is available, she plans to return to Regina.

JACKSON BETTER

NEW WESTMINSTER, B.C. (CP)—Mayor Fred Jackson returned home Wednesday after a four-day stay in hospital for a "run-down condition." However, he said it would be several days before he could return to work.

ADMITTED to the B.C. bar early this month, David Godfrey, 1952 Newsmag, has opened his own practice here. Originally from Montreal, he has been in this province since 1948, and is a graduate of University of British Columbia.

RCMP to Share in Sunset Ceremonies

The Royal Canadian Mounted Police will stage some of the sunset services to be held this summer in front of the Parliament Buildings. Mayor Claude Harrison advised city council Thursday that the RCMP wanted to participate in the ceremonial event and he thought they should be allowed to do so.

Council gave its approval. Last year, the army and navy staged most of the sunset ceremonies.

'54 FORD V8

The Crestline Victoria

POWERED TO STEER

with advanced "Master-Guide" Power Steering

With ultra-modern "Master-Guide" Power Steering—available in all Ford models*—you can turn or back into the tightest parking space with almost 75% less effort! "Master-Guide" reduces effort yet lets you retain that natural steering "feel" on the straightaway. It cuts down road-shock when the going is rough, makes all your driving easier and safer.

(*Optional at extra cost)

POWERED TO STOP

with all-new effort-saving Power Brakes

Ford's swift, sure Power Brakes* give fast, straight-line stops at a touch of the toe on the pedal, because vacuum power does up to 1/4 of the work for you! Power combines with mechanical linkage to assure you of maximum safety with minimum effort. The Power Brake pedal is set closer to the floor, nearer the level of the accelerator—a great saving of energy in stop-and-go driving. With Power Brakes, your driving is easier, more assured, more relaxed.

(*Optional at extra cost)

completely new, smoother, more powerful V-8 engine

The all-new 120-Hp. V-8 engine in '54 Ford Crestline and Customline models brings you an added bonus of power for extra smoothness, faster acceleration, greater safety . . . combined with dependable performance and gas-saving economy. The finest engine ever to power a Ford, this great new V-8 is the product of the experience gained in building more V-8 engines than all other manufacturers combined!

(Certain features illustrated or mentioned are "Standard" on some models, available at extra cost on others)

BERLIN (U. P.) — An American, disclosed Thursday that he risked arrest and a long prison term to win his step-daughters from Communism and smuggle them out of the Soviet zone of Germany.

Peter Grimes, 32-year-old Harvard graduate, won a three-year fight when he and his German-born wife, Irmgard, arrived in West Berlin last week with the two young girls.

Grimes, of Belmont, Mass., told in an exclusive interview how he won the children's minds and affection with promises to take them to a Gregory Peck movie and to buy them a police dog.

LIKE NEW LIFE

The girls, 13, Monica, 14, and Evelyn 11, pore through American movie magazines, listened to American jazz, and rode in an American car today. They both agreed they liked the western way of life.

The girls know only two English phrases — "Nuts" and "You aggravate me."

The girls had been taught to hate the West by their grandfather, Paul Schroeder, a fanatic Communist, official in the Oranienburg region of East Germany.

Grimes, and his wife began the fight against the Communist domination of the grandfather three years ago—about a year after they were married in the United States.

However, they could not win the children from across the Atlantic, so they went to East Germany on a 10-day visa and stayed for four months, risking their freedom.

Last week, after a visit by two members of the American military mission to Schroeder's house, Grimes, his wife and the two children boarded a train for West Berlin and freedom.

The American and his family scattered through the train so they would not draw attention. The Grimes' couple boldly presented their outdated visas in Russian to the German Communist police. The Germans could not read Russian and passed them out to West Berlin.

David Milne's Work Seen at Arts Centre

By GWLADYS DOWNES
"Feeling," said David Milne, "is the power that drives art."
The paintings of this brilliant and subtle Canadian artist, now on exhibition at the Arts Centre, offer a perfect expression in concrete form of his feeling for life. For David Milne (1881-1954), who died early this year in Toronto, lived the world he saw and found it exciting, perhaps even more exciting at the end of his life than at the beginning. His later paintings of landscapes, flowers, lights, and common objects convey to the spectator not only his delight, but also the quality of wonder lost in time. In this, Milne reminds one of Marc Chagall.

Although a contemporary of the Group of Seven, Milne has never been as widely known as the painters, perhaps because his effects are less spectacular. Completely modern in feeling, his work is nevertheless classic plane. A comparison of these two paintings with sketches by Lismer or Jackson at the same period will show immediately Milne's more sophisticated approach to recording visual experience.

In Milne's early period he used a dry-brush technique to produce his water colors. Later, he experimented with oils, but seemed to strive for the free, sweeping effects proper to his first medium. During his last period, he returned to water colors, and by flooding the paper with water before applying the color, attained the brilliant luminosity of "Rainstorm" (1943).

"High Island No. 2" (1952) has the same simplicity which Cezanne reached in his final studies of Mont St. Victoire, and suggests airy illimitable space, the landscape reduced to its essence and expressed by the least possible amount of color and line. Although in many of these last paintings Milne restricts his palette severely to a few basic colors, the general effect is one of glowing light. Particularly outstanding in this respect are "Hitch Hiker," which displays different tones of vermilion against dark brown, almost black washes, and "Berry Baskets," a still-life which is practically calligraphic in style.

Since a large proportion of Milne's work is already in eastern Canadian collections, both public and private, lovers of painting here are fortunate in having the chance to see this exhibition. Although many paintings have already been sold in Vancouver and other western cities, there is still a wide choice left for anyone who has the funds.

Colorful Scene From School Play

Children of Sir James Douglas School are shown above costumed for a scene from the play "The Willow Tree," to be presented at the school Tuesday next at 2 p.m. The play, an entry in the annual School-Drama Festival, is under

Not, Now, But Maybe Some Day . . .

Centre of attraction Wednesday night at Victoria Ballroom when group of Times sales boys were guests at weekly wrestling show, was popular wrestler Dave Jones, who showed them a "bicep what is!" Boys, guests of promoters Keith Hollett and Larry Marshall, cheered excitedly as Jones won main event from Lou Stoberg. The group, winners in a recent sales contest, in-

Tax Boost Hits BCE Pay Contract; Workers Ask Extra Cent an Hour

VANCOUVER (CP)—George Gee, business agent of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers (I.B.E.W.), said today the union will ask the British Columbia Electric Company to reimburse employees for wage contract gains lost as a result of the proposed increase in the provincial sales tax.

The I.B.E.W. and the B.C. Electric Office Employees Association (TLC) recently signed an agreement with the company under which BCE agreed to pay Hospital Insurance Service premiums for employees. The BCHIS premiums are being eliminated by the government in favor of a boost in the sales tax to five per cent.

Mr. Gee, said the company agreed to pay the full cost of BCHIS and that this cost represented "more than a cent an hour for employees."

Everett King, business manager for OEA said the 1,300 of five employees had signed a similar contract with the payment of BCHIS premiums by the company to take effect next November.

Alert Bay Bus Tragedy Inquest Gets Adjournment

ALERT BAY (CP)—Inquest into the deaths of three men in a loggers' bus runaway at Beaver Cove, near here, was adjourned indefinitely Wednesday because nine key witnesses are still in hospital.

Coroner Casper Peterson adjourned the inquest when RCMP reported some of the injured may be in hospital for several weeks. Bodies were released for burial.

Three men were killed and 16 others injured when the truck went out of control going down a mountain slope late Monday.

Red Cross Campaign B.C. Total, $104,138

VANCOUVER (CP)—Canadian Red Cross campaign for funds reached the $104,138 mark Thursday according to Hon. Erle W. Hamber, provincial drive chairman.

In Vancouver, canvassers have collected $68,176 to date. Totals reported from other cities are: Victoria, $16,229; Nelson, $2,350; New Westminster, $2,754; Prince George, $2,251 and Cranbrook, $1,500. Objective is $623,000.

Schwable Tells Why He Made 'Germ Warfare' Confession

WASHINGTON (AP)—Col. Frank H. Schwable took the stand in his own defense Thursday and told how subtle Communist torture—constant cold, hunger, no sleep and—drowning questions wrung from him a confession of "bug warfare" in Korea.

The 45-year-old marine airman said he was testifying voluntarily before the marine court of inquiry to clear up possible misunderstandings of his previous statements.

The court, now in its fourth week, is sitting to determine whether formal charges should be brought against Schwable for making the false confession while a captive in a Red Chinese prison camp had robbed him of his powers of judgment and clear thinking. It was not until later, he declared, that he realized it was wrong for him to sign a false confession to helping plan germ warfare in Korea.

CONSTRUCTION INDUSTRY WILL 'HOLD THE LINE'

VANCOUVER (CP)—Construction firms in B.C. served notice Thursday they will hold the line on wage increases throughout the industry in 1954.

Col. Macgregor Macintosh, newly-appointed industrial relations representative for almost 300 B.C. construction firms, told a press conference B.C. construction activity is levelling off and the "building boom in B.C. is over."

The former member of the legislature served five years on the provincial labor relations board.

Folk Council Jamboree To Feature Many Nations

A folk Dance Jamboree, featuring a variety of traditional dances of nations will be held at the YMCA Saturday at 8 p.m. under auspices of the Greater Victoria Folk Council.

The council organized last September as an outgrowth of a Folk Festival staged during the coronation celebration, assists in perpetuation and encouragement of proper recognition of the crafts of various countries, officials say.

Inspiration behind the forming of the council was Mrs. T. R. Kelly, convener of the festival committee of the PTA Council which sponsored the festival last June.

The council has sponsored two teacher institutions at which several national dances were taught. The council feels that the exchange of national dances will be a step in fostering better understanding of various national groups which make up the cross-section of the population of Victoria.

Featured in Saturday's program will be dances from early American times, Scotland, Estonia, Mexico, Brazil and special performances of Dutch dancing by five couples from Port Alberni under the direction of Mrs. de Bruyn von Lith and the Association of Ukrainian Canadians senior dancers of Victoria.

MAYOR'S RULING LEGAL?

City Challenges Liquor Petition

Harrison Returns After Council Meeting,
Says 'Investigation' Motion Endorsed

City Council has challenged the liquor petition signed by 12,318 citizens.

But today it is unclear whether an after-council ruling by Mayor Harrison is legal.

If it is, council is on record as endorsing Ald. Geoffrey Edgewood's call for "a thorough investigation" of "the manner" the signatures were obtained.

But today it is unclear whether an after-council ruling by Mayor Harrison is legal.

The United States Army declined details of the fatal accident pending completion of an investigation.

The casualties marred the army's largest peacetime paratrooper and equipment drop since the Second World War.

The aerial manoeuvre involved the division's 325th, 504th and 505th airborne infantry regiments along with 82nd's airborne artillery. The booted, combat-ready troops cascaded from about 145 C-119s flying Boxcars onto four drop zones.

After landing, the men secured a theoretical air head and prepared for simulated combat. But some failed to land in proper drop zones, others landed in trees.

Applicants for Liquor Licenses Kept Secret

Attorney-General, Liquor Commissioner
Refuse to Reveal Names of Individuals

VANCOUVER (CP)—The News Herald says, in a front-page story today the provincial government has refused to release the names of persons applying for the new liquor licenses.

The newspaper said Liquor Commissioner Donald McGugan had refused to give any information on license applications to the newspaper's Victoria staff correspondent.

He told the reporter to speak to Attorney-General Robert Bonner, who said: "You'll have to get that information from Mr. McGugan."

The story said the newspaper telephoned Mr. Bonner later, and the attorney general said: "It is up to the liquor control board and the liquor commission."

"I do not believe they are under any obligation to reveal the names of the applicants."

The story said he was asked why there was any need for secrecy about the names, and Mr. Bonner said:

"I don't know whether it is secrecy or privacy."

"The commission receives a great number of inquiries about applications and they are entitled to a certain amount of privacy. Certainly when the decisions are made the names will be made public immediately."

In Vancouver, the chairman of the commission which investigated the liquor situation in the province last year, H. H. Stevens, said: "Matters of public interest belong to the public and should be made available to the people."

George Home, secretary of the B.C. Federation of Labor, another member of the commission, said there should be a three-man liquor commission instead of one man.

"We recommended three commissioners to handle licensing. That is the democratic way to handle it."

On Whatshan

'Negligence'

The government has as yet made no public move or statement on the Royal Commission report filed in the Legislature a week ago charging the three-man board of the B.C. Power Commission with negligence in the Whatshan disaster.

Attorney General Robert Bonner said today he had "no advice" on the matter.

BCPC Chairman Samuel R. Weston, General W. W. Foster, Forrest L. Shaw, commissioners, and the chief engineer, Alfred William Lash, were blamed by investigator Mr. Justice J. V. Cline "in failing to take adequate steps to prevent the mudslide which partially destroyed the Whatshan hydro development."

Slide damage to the $5,000,000 project was estimated unofficially at about $1,000,000.

Court Hears How Island Boy Killed Father

Case Goes to Jury
This Afternoon

NANAIMO, B.C. (CP)—Description of a fight in which a 15-year-old boy struck his father twice with his fists and killed him during a fight in their South Wellington home Dec. 16 was given in Assize Court here.

Trial of the boy, Roy Kenny, on a manslaughter charge, opened Thursday with testimony given by his mother, Mrs. George Kenny, and his 13-year-old sister, Audrey.

"Crown counsel Frank S. Cunliffe, QC, told the jury they must decide whether the boy used more force than was necessary in the fight with his father."

Medical and police evidence were heard this morning. Dr. J. W. Cooper told the court Kenny died as a result of a broken neck. Post mortem examination also revealed three breaks in his jaw.

NEAR CLOSE

The case was expected to go to the jury this afternoon.

Mrs. Kenny testified that her husband tried to choke her four years ago, and that he pulled a knife on her son, Roy.

"I stopped him before he did anything," she said, "I whacked him on the head with a milk stool on Easter Monday, 1953."

Mrs. Kenny said her husband arrived home "mean, drunk" about midnight December 16 and demanded she go with him to Alberni to pick up a heifer for their farm.

STARTED FIGHT

She refused and when the father ordered the boy to accompany him, Mrs. Kenny said, he started to fight when Roy also refused to go until the next day.

She said he "made a pass at Roy" but missed. He kept after him, she said.

The boy struck his father and knocked him back in the bedroom. Mrs. Kenny said her husband "immediately picked himself up and charged at Roy and told him he was going to kill him."

Roy struck her husband another blow, she said, and then the family called police.

Threat to 'Wreck Army' Laid to McCarthy Aide

Report Claims Roy Cohn
Said He'd 'Get' Stevens

WASHINGTON (UP)—The army charged in a report today that Senator Joseph R. McCarthy's chief counsel once threatened to "wreck the army" to get favored treatment for a drafted McCarthy investigator.

The document also accused the 26-year-old attorney, Roy M. Cohn, of threatening to force Army Secretary Robert T. Stevens' ouster if Pvt. G. David Schine were sent overseas.

The army said Cohn interceded frequently in an effort to keep the wealthy Schine off KP, to get him plenty of passes, and to put him at the disposal of McCarthy's investigating subcommittee from time to time.

The 34-page report, landing like a bombshell in the middle of the McCarthy controversy, said McCarthy himself tried to persuade the army to shift Schine to special duty in New York to search for evidence "of pro-Communist leanings" in West Point textbooks.

The detailed document, the army's summary of its day-by-day dealings with McCarthy and his aides on Schine, was delivered to members of the subcommittee and other selected senators Thursday over McCarthy's protests.

It was made public by several senators shortly before midnight after it had "leaked." It came as some subcommittee members, including some Republicans, were trying to get Cohn fired. It blew the army-McCarthy feud wide open again after it had just begun to simmer down.

BRANDS REPORT LIE

Cohn, youthful and energetic chief counsel of McCarthy's Senate investigating subcommittee, branded the 34-page report "a damn lie."

Senator McCarthy himself accused the army of trying to "blackmail" him into calling off an investigation of Communists.

Cohn, sitting beside McCarthy at a news conference, denied he made any such "absurd" threats.

DEMANDS COHN'S FIRING

McCarthy made his statement after a Republican member of his subcommittee—Sen. Charles E. Potter (Mich.)—demanded that Cohn be fired if the army's charges are true.

The three Democratic members—Sens. John L. McClellan (Ark.), Henry M. Jackson (Wash.) and Stuart Symington (Mo.)—said in a joint statement that the army's revelations should engage the prompt attention and consideration of the group. They said they "assume" McCarthy will call an early meeting to discuss the army report.

French Launch Attack

HANOI Indo-China (UP)—Powerful French union forces have struck from the two big cities of northern Laos in a major counter-offensive aimed at clearing Communist rebels from the Indo-Chinese kingdom, the French high command announced today.

The Western Allies no longer consider Dr. Otto Strasser, stormy figure in early Nazi party politics, a serious threat to democracy in West Germany, officials in Ottawa indicated here today.

Strasser, who fled from the Gestapo after breaking with Hitler, may soon return to his homeland from Paradise, N.S., where he has lived since before the Second World War.

Dennis Is Three Years Old Today

Exactly three years ago today, March 12, 1951, one of our Times reader's favorite sons was born, "Dennis The Menace." Although he made his bow to only 15 papers that day (it showed his learning out of the family car and, to the dismay of his parents, belligerently telling an approaching motorcycle cop: "You didn't catch us! We ran outta gas!") the uninhibited little character is read by an estimated 43 million people in some 300 newspapers. Dennis joined the Times' family last June 9.

Fire Takes Car and Garage, Misses Homes

Car and garage of C. Hanen, 432 Powell, were destroyed by fire about 2:45 a.m. today when internal combustion caused a compost heap to burst into flame. The Hanen home and that of neighbor W. McHugh were also threatened. Wall and roof of the McHugh home were damaged and paint blistered on the Hanen house. The car, a 1937 Ford is a total loss. Mr. Hanen's teen-age son is credited with hearing crackle flames and rousing two families who called firemen. (Photo by Strickland.)

CROSSWORDERS TRIP ON 'TOUCH,' 'RAZOR'

After solving the crossword puzzle successfully for two weeks, Times crossworders tripped up on Puzzle No. 50 and there were no correct solutions this week. One of the chief sticklers was "touch" which, rather than "torch" was ruled the best answer to "can help you find your way in the dark." Another was "razor," not "rader," for "universally used in the last war." The solution with explanations is on Page 27 along with Puzzle No. 51, worth $100.

Ski-Race in Strait Set for September

Port Angeles Plans Water-Ski Race
On Route To Be Blazed by Flo Chadwick

Plans are being made in Port Angeles to hold the world's first water ski race across an international boundary in September.

Florence Chadwick hopes to "blaze" a route across the strait in August in the $10,000 swim sponsored by the Times and British-American Paint Co.

In all likelihood the bouncing skiers will use the same route in the opposite direction.

Lions Win Right To Hold Weinmeister

VANCOUVER (UP) — The British Columbia Lions of the Western Interprovincial Football Union have held onto import tackle Arnie Weinmeister.

At Seattle Judge John J. Langenbach dissolved an injunction brought by the Giants against Weinmeister which would have prevented him from playing with anyone but the New York club.
